

Council Debates How to Fund Recreation Program

As it has in recent meetings, recreation took over the spotlight during talks at Monday's Daly City Council meeting on the proposed $6.7 million operating budget.

The council first met in a regular session to adopt the city's annual operating budget and to authorize the loan and transfer of funds from one city department to another to balance the books before the fiscal year ends June 30.

This has been the practice of the city council in the past, it was explained by City Manager David Rowe and Finance Director Jack Massen.

But Councilman William Schumacher asked that $9,000 slated to be transferred from the recreation fund to the Parks Division for payment of cost overruns, resulting from tree spraying and pruning costs incurred during the 1972-73 fiscal year, be taken out of the transfer resolution.

Both the recreation and parks monies are in the same fund, according to Hupf.

Councilman Paul Hupf also balked at accepting the budget because he said he didn't fully understand "a contract" made between the city and August Conci, former city gardener.

Under a notation for transferring the funds from recreation to the Parks Department fund it was explained the $9,000 was owed to Conci for "unused vacation and sick leave" and for trimming trees at Marchbank Park.

Conci presently is on a retain basis to the city and runs the nursery, growing plants, shrubs and trees for use by Daly City.

Hupf said he wants "the entire matter checked out" before he casts his vote on it.

Only three councilmen attended the meeting — Victor Kyriakis, Schumacher and Hupf.

The operating budget — still lacking salary and fringe benefit adjustments — was tabled until a July 1 special meeting.

It was expected all five councilmen will attend that session.

Hupf, in commenting on the system used for transferring funds from one city pocket to another, said he thought there "is a better way to do it."

"Why not wait until the close of the year (July 1)?" Hupf asked, pointing out he felt the present method "softens and reduces" the effectiveness of budgetary controls set by elected officials.

Massen and Rowe explained auditors had suggested the city follow the pattern of transfers prior to year's end, rather than make them retroactive.

The matter of transferring money from one fund to another is accepted in many cities.

Some departments run over budget, while others come in below the amount established at the beginning of the year, it was explained.

Later, during a public study session, Schumacher took exception to a recommendation made by Rowe that some $24,000 be used from federal revenue sharing monies for partial funding of the city's summer recreation program at six elementary school grounds.

The program had been held at 13 schools in previous years, however, the Jefferson Elementary School District this year voted to withhold some $49,000 in funding for the program.

It was first thought the

Daly City Sign Law 'Pushed'

The heads of two Daly City merchant groups today said they feel the city's Planning Commission and staff are trying to push through a tough new sign ordinance "come Hell or high water."

Frank Spadarella, irritated by what he feels is an attempt by planner John Walker to force the sign issue, made the remark in the wake of a Planning Commission meeting held last week at City Hall.

At that meeting, the commissioners ignored three letters from groups asking the matter be shelved pending further redevelopment studies in two of the city's business districts — Mission street and Junipero Serra Blvd.

Only one member of the Greater Daly City Chamber of Commerce — manager Peter J. Markovich — was in attendance at the session Tuesday.

Later, Markovich said if he had known Walker would ask the Commission to set a public hearing date on the issue, after the Chamber, Mission Merchants and Redevelopment Project Area Committee had asked in separate letters for a continuance, "I could have packed this place."

Markovich himself stood before the Commission and pleaded for the matter to be tabled.

But chairman Edward O'Donnell said postponing the issue would "not solve anything."

The four commissioners present unanimously passed a motion made by Leonard Brown and seconded by LeRoy Franzola setting June 27 at 7:30 p.m. for the first public hearing.

Both Spadarella and Vince Merlo, president of the Mission Merchants Association, vowed they would fight tooth and nail at the hearings to have the matter either continued or completely scrapped.

Spadarella, who chairs the Chamber and DCRPAC, says the issue is "no longer a question of what is right or wrong, good or bad, but one of saving face with the Commission and Walker."

Assistant City Planner Bill Wojtkowski countered that all groups concerned with the sign ordinance had ample notice of last week's meeting and, furthermore, during the past nine months have had sufficient opportunities to express their opinions on it.

"I was called at 4:30 p.m. (the night of the Tuesday meeting) and told the letters would be read. Mr. Wojtkowski called me," Markovich said. "I thought he was just going to read the letters."

What the Commission did, in setting the hearing, was "perfectly legal," according to City Attorney Albert Polonsky, even though the matter was tucked away under the "Communications" section of the night's agenda.

When Chairman O'Donnell was questioned about this by the press, he simply pointed out that the matter of the public hearing had already been taken up at a previous session on May 14.

The June 11 motion was nothing more than a formality out of "courtesy" to the fact that Markovich was present, O'Donnell explained.

However, minutes of the May 14 meeting disclosed that the sign ordinance was brought up under "study session." The law, according to city attorney Polonsky, says no action can be taken under this portion of a meeting.

Minutes of the May session reflect Walker recommended "that this matter be set for public hearing in approximately six weeks, the exact date to be determined pending the availability of the council chambers."

Spadarella acknowledged that the Commission's actions of June 11 "may have been legal but it certainly is bewildering why they (the Commission) do not fully publicize what's going to happen at these meetings."

As for the numerous meetings Wojtkowski spoke of, Spadarella said each time the planner agreed with him. Merlo or some other interested party, "we later learn Walker turned everything around and what we thought had been agreed upon either had been discarded or changed."

Spadarella also took exception to the attendance of Carl F. Heymann, an official of the California Electric Sign Association, being at the staff meetings.

"It would seem to me that he (Heymann) has much to gain if the new law goes into effect, inasmuch as our estimates indicate about 80 per

Tenants Protest Rent Increases

A hairy situation has developed between owners of the County Club Apartments in Daly City and a group of renters, led by cat-fancier Francis Moeller.

Sunday about 45 members of the newly formed Country Club Apartments Tenants Association, which boasts a paid membership of 175, took over offices of the owners of the complex at 333 Park Plaza Drive and held a protest demonstration.

Mrs. Moeller and her husband, Gary, a Sears, Roebuck Company salesman, have lived in the apartments for the past four years.

The couple, along with others, has claimed that since Henry Doelger sold the 3,000-unit complex to Gerson Bakar and Associates last September rents have skyrocketed.

The group is also protesting what they allege to be poor maintenance service and police protection since Doelger left the area.

After filing her protest earlier with the apartment management staff, she was told to get rid of her pet cat or she would be evicted when her lease expired next month. Mrs. Moeller claimed.

Michael Doelger, son of builder Henry Doelger, said Mrs. Moeller's accusations were incorrect.

The young Doelger, administrator for the Gerson Bakar complex, said a woman with asthma moved into the Moeller's apartment building and complained.

Although the lease states pets are not allowed in the apartments, one official of the company, who asked not to be identified, said in many cases "we have looked the other way — until someone complains."

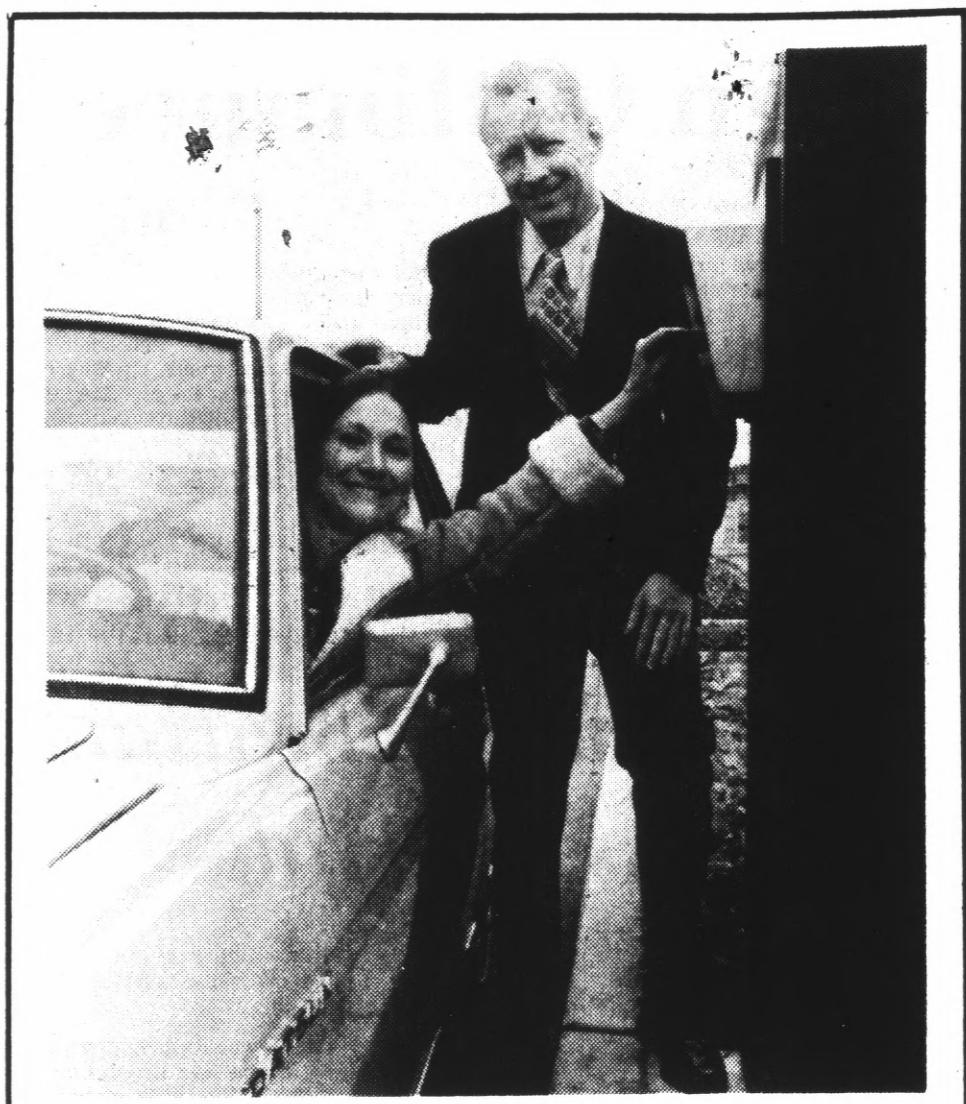

And in this case "someone complained," the official said.

Asked if police protection (Doelger had a special police force) had been reduced since Bakar took over, the high-ranking company official said "not a man."

The police staff is at the same strength as when Mr. Doelger owned these apartments," he said.

And Daly City municipal police have increased their manpower and patrols of the HAPPY WAY TO PAY water bills these days is to simply drive up to the new depository outside Daly City Hall and pour in the bill — along with the money due, of course. Pretty Doris Brizel, of 465 Southgate Ave. (making deposit) suggested idea to Finance Director Jack Massen (right) who followed through.

Alternative Found To Long, Hard Climb

By FRANK LaPIERRE

From the parking lot at the Daly City Hall it's two full flights of stone stairs to the main lobby.

That's a lot of stairs for senior citizens, mothers with children in tow, and the handicapped.

One woman collapsed after paying her water bill last year — not because of the amount of the bill, but reportedly due to the long climb up those City Hall stairs.

City Hall designers failed to include an elevator or escalator in their plans for the building, apparently dismissing the idea that senior citizens or the handicapped would ever have business there.

One of the first people to visit the City Hall after its opening several years ago was former San Mateo County Supervisor Tom Callan.

Observed Callan to the council gathered in the building's conference room, after trudging up some four flights of stone stairs. "Whoever designed this 'mausoleum' forgot to put in an elevator for the people."

Mrs. Doris Brizel, in a letter to City Manager David Rowe last November, suggested the city could save a lot of citizens frayed nerves, soggy clothes and perhaps their health simply by installing a water bill depository outside the building similar to those erected outside banks and post offices.

"I pay my utility (water-garbage) bill in person," she wrote. "Invariably it's raining or foggy (and) this means that I must park my car, walk through the (parking) lot, up a huge flight of slippery steps and then down again."

Not only would a depository save citizens time and postage, they could pay their bills after normal business hours.

Some folks work at night and cannot visit the City Hall during the normal business day, it was explained.

Both Rowe and Finance Director Jack Massen thought the idea good and started work on it.

Last week, less than six months after the suggestion was made, the box opened for business.

The end of this story should be. "And they all lived happily ever after."

But there is one woman, who asked not to be identified, who found new-fangled ideas oft-times have drawbacks.

The box was installed and not yet open for business (Massen still did not have the key for it) when a woman dropped her water bill, and check for the amount due, in after working hours.

She barely made the deadline for paying the bill and probably breathed a sigh of relief after her visit to the depository.

The next day the water department turned off her water for non-payment.

Furious, she went to city hall, voiced her dissatisfaction with the box and told the City she had made her payment on time.

A few days later, when the keys arrived, Massen opened the depository and, by golly, there was the woman's check.

Meanwhile, her water had been turned back on.

Major North County Drug Ring Broken

A major North San Mateo County narcotics ring has been broken up with the arrest of seven persons — including two juveniles — by a joint team made up of police from five agencies.

Daly City detectives John Kirby and Terry Hannebeck, working in combination with narcotics officers from San Francisco and San Mateo counties, said they believe the gang had been selling drugs to hundreds of teenagers in the Daly City area.

Lt. Don Coslett, chief of the county's narcotics unit, said investigation of the ring had been on-going for the past three weeks.

Undercover agents infiltrated the gang after Hannebeck and Kirby turned up several leads to its existence in the city.

The gang members offered to sell two undercover agents firearms and, after being told the officers were from Santa Clara County, offered to let them expand the drug operations into that area, police said.

One of the agents was from San Francisco and the other from San Mateo County, it was learned.

Police said more arrests in connection with the ring are likely "within the next few days."

During the investigation police said they purchased marijuana, LSD and cocaine. They could have purchased "almost any amount we wanted," according to a detective working on the case.

Police decided to expose the gang after they planned to break into a Westlake Pizza parlor.

Arrested in the sweep was

where agents allegedly met and bought drugs. Matthew F. Pugh, 18, an unemployed longshoreman, of 808 Ellis Drive, Colma; Michael A. Moberg, 21, laborer, of 380 Lake Merced Blvd., John F. Daniel, 18, of 1390 South Mayfair Ave., Daly City; Ron Witham, 23, of 1263 Oak St., 2, San Francisco; Mark A. Haymaker, 19, of 1263 Oak St., 4, San Francisco; and teenagers.

The alleged gang members were all charged with criminal conspiracy.

Pugh was charged with six counts of felony sale of marijuana, four counts of felony sale of cocaine, use of minors for sale of narcotics. Haymaker was charged with sale of marijuana, sale of cocaine, maintaining a place where narcotics are sold.

Moberg was charged with sale of cocaine, maintaining a place where drugs are used, use of minors for sale of narcotics.

Daniels was charged with possession for sale of marijuana, while Witham was charged with possession of marijuana, and cultivation of marijuana.

The two teenagers were booked into Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center on a variety of narcotics charges, police said.

Colma Police Contract

The Town of Colma June 12 decided to continue to contract with Broadmoor for police protection — at a higher rate.

Broadmoor Police Commissioners, John F. McCloskey Jr. and Kevin McDonald agreed with Colma city councilmen to accept a five year contract at the increased annual rate of $48,000 — up $16,000 over last year.

The contract was due to expire on June 30.

Four months ago the Colma Council extended the deadline for cancellation of the police services contract after both sides reached a stalemate in contract negotiations.

It was learned that Colma had been negotiating meanwhile with other police departments in the North County for fulltime protection after Broadmoor insisted on cancelling the existing contract unless the rate was increased.

Broadmoor Police Chief Ray Savage said increased business activities in Colma — the Serra Shopping Complex in particular — demanded added police protection, thus the request for more money was justified.

Savage was expected to contact San Mateo County DA Keith Sorenson's office soon to have the new contract drawn up. It will call for either three-fourths of one per cent of Colma's assessed valuation or $48,000 — whichever is larger.

This was the same scale used last year which netted Broadmoor only $32,000. However, the additional businesses located in Colma in recent months likely will increase this figure, Savage ventured.

Colma is still without a police chief.

Several months ago, Raymond Ottoboni, son of long-time Councilman Raymond Ottoboni, was demoted from chief to patrolman.

Oral examinations for a new police chief will be held next week, the Post learned.

Volunteer Assistance Needed

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau/Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County with offices in Burlingame and Redwood City.

Daly City Recreation Department — Volunteers are needed to work with emotionally handicapped, educable and trainable mentally retarded children 12 and over in a recreational program. Activities include gymnastics, games, sports, music, arts and crafts.

Service League — Volunteers are needed to work with pre-school and primary grade children in a creative play group giving the mothers an opportunity for socialization. This could be a good group project for a church group.

Additional information about these and other volunteer opportunities for adults and for our Summer Youth Program may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau at 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame daily Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Phone 342-0601. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the bureau shares in the United Crusade.

Creative Movement Class Set

The Daly City Recreation Department has announced a new summer program offering for boys and girls who are three to five years of age.

The program will include creative dramatics, rhythms, and movement which explore the feelings and imaginations of preschool children. Dramatics and movement will be accompanied by classical and modern music from the United States, China, India, Arabia, Iran and Spain.

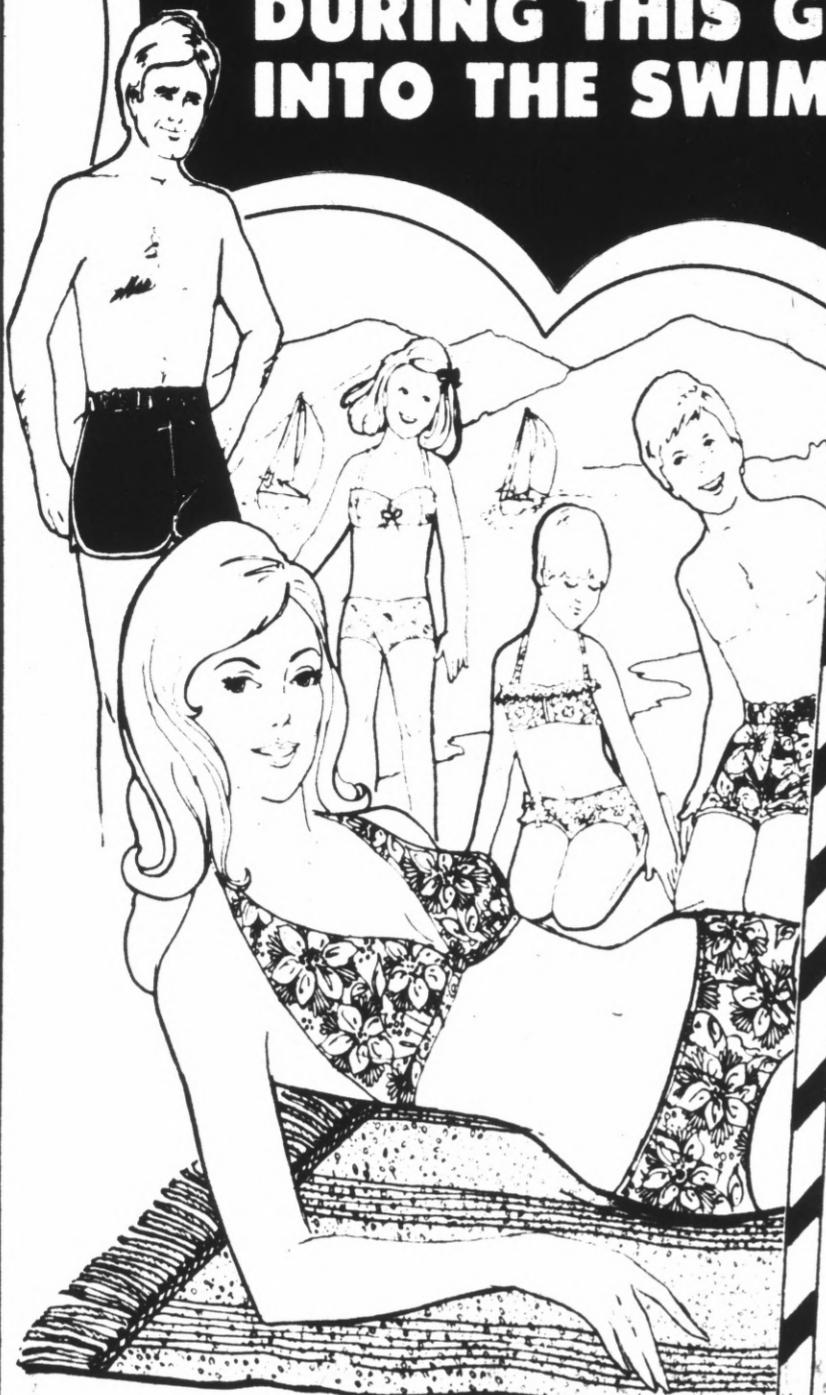

Mrs. Juliet Ghafourpour will instruct the program and each class is limited to fifteen students.

S. Bruno Mountain Plan to Be Aired

The first public presentation of a preliminary regional plan for San Bruno Mountain will be held June 30 at 8 p.m. at the Natalie Lipman School in Brisbane.

John T. Brook, county director of parks and recreation, so informed the county Parks and Recreation Commission Wednesday afternoon.

He said an overflow crowd is expected at the meeting when plans will be publicly unveiled for the first time.

The firm of Del Davis of Vallejo has been retained to prepare a master plan for the park, while Dillingham, Keosy and Seyfarth of Oakland has been hired to prepare the environmental impact report.

According to Brook, the planners will explain their roles to the public, then sit back and see what the people want.

An appeal was received from Mayor Aubrey M. Lumley III of Pacifica for assistance in acquiring privately owned beaches in the north end of the county.

In a letter to commissioners, Lumley complained that while the city has attempted to purchase the beaches, Pacifica is caught between the county, which says it is the state's responsibility to assist the city, and the state, which has passed the buck back to the county.

"It is doubtful how long these beaches will remain available," Lumley warned.

Richard Burton, Pacifica director of parks and recreation, told the commission the state has ignored last minute pleas from the city for funds from Proposition One because the city granted a permit for a root beer stand adjoining a beach. Most of the state recreation funds are earmarked for Southern California projects.

The county commission will hold a joint meeting on July 10 with the Pacifica City Council on plans for San Pedro Park. It was agreed that measures to protect the beaches for the public will be discussed at the same time.

On June 19 at 8 p.m. planning consultants hired by San Francisco will discuss recreation plans for 4,000 acres of San Francisco owned watershed land, Brook reported. Three proposals will be presented at the meeting to be held in the council chambers of the San Mateo City Hall, Brook said.

Parks and Recreation Area Manager Robert Emerit reported that at a Bikeways Committee meeting Monday, members felt the committee should develop a bikeways plan alone and separately from the county master plan.

He said that a route along Sawyer Camp Road was discussed, and San Francisco Water Department officials favor keeping bike routes on roads already surfaced.

Eventual plans call for a bike route all the way to Golden Gate Bridge, but no way has yet been found to reach Fort Funston in San Francisco. Mrs. Jean Westmore was elected chairman of the committee, Emerit said.

He then told the commission the committee took a field trip on their bikes to the Nineteenth Avenue Interstate 280 interchange and added, "If you can't get through the county, you can't get to San Francisco." He did not elaborate on the problem, however.

A motorcycle sub-committee will hold a meeting July 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the county annex building on Hamilton Street across from the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

Commissioner Robert Spillers, who said he would be on vacation at the time, declared, "I am absolutely opposed to putting motorcycle trails through the watershed area."

Brook reported that County Manager M. D. Tarsches will meet this week with Thomas Mellon, chief administrative officer of San Francisco, to see if San Francisco actually intends to declare the Hassler Health Home surplus. He said although San Francisco officials have indicated they will declare the 320-acre property surplus, no official action has been taken.

San Carlos citizens have voted a 7-cent property tax override to raise funds to purchase the property, in conjunction with the county.

University Study

Plenty of Wildlife In Pacifica

By JACK BIK

Wildlife in Pacifica? Plenty — according to Michael McGarry, a senior in urban studies at San Francisco State University.

A 14-page study on Pacifica wildlife was conducted as a student-intern project for course study, and released this week by Pacifica's Department of Community Development.

Pacifica, McGarry finds, is blessed with a wildlife and habitat that no other northern Peninsula community has. It still incorporates, he finds, five basic wildlife habitat areas, each dependent upon the other:

—Open coastline.

—Chaparral and related heavy undergrowth.

—Grasslands

—Forests

—Coastal marshes.

Each of these areas provide a different kind of ecosystem, which provides support for different kinds of wildlife.

In addition, Pacifica lies adjacent to the San Francisco watershed, with its fish and game preserve.

Many migrating species of birds make Pacifica a stopping off point, while others make it their permanent winter-nesting area.

Local animals also migrate, though not as far as birds. Since there is an ever-increasing demand for food, animals must follow their senses to where they think food exists.

The study cites a family of skunks that live in Milagra Valley and decide to make their way south to Moss Beach — and later return to Pacifica. Predators, such as the fox, bobcat or cougar, "come in and out of Pacifica like commuters."

Fish also frequent off shore waters, at yearly intervals, searching out good feeding grounds, he says.

"The anchovy and bass make their famous yearly runs right on Pacifica's doorstep. Whales may be seen up to 200 yards off our coast — and even the rare sea otter has been spotted near Pedro Point."

McGarry cites three endangered species in Pacifica, which are protected by law. They include the Pacific brown pelican, peregrine falcon and San Francisco garter snake.

The characteristics of Pacifica's ecosystems included:

COASTLINE: The Davidson Current bringing warm water from the south, and the California Current, bringing cold water from the north meet close to Pacifica, creating a world-famous area thriving in fish and marine life. Pacifica also has an abundance of inshore areas and rocky headlands.

starting in Pedro Point, going north to the Rockaway headlands, then to Sharp Park, and finally in the Musel Rock area. These form a sanctuary for birdlife and smaller ground animals.

The beaches serve as an important feeding ground for shorebirds.

Species found here include mammals such as the Grey Whale, dolphin, harbor seal, porpoises, seal lions, and sea otters; birds such as gulls, plovers, terns, loons, puffins, cormorants, ducks, grebes, pelicans, and the black brant, and fish such as eels, salmon, bass, soles, anchovies, rays, rockfish, cabazone, halibut, smelt, sturgeon, perch, flounder, herring and shark.

COASTAL MARSH: Pacifica's only marsh is on the Sharp Park Golf Course. It is valued by migratory birds, mostly waterfowl, as a nesting and wintering area. Birds include the grebe, bittern, heron, egret, coot, duck, teal, marsh hawk, marsh wren, yellow throat, kingfisher, black phoebe, cliff swallow, and barn owl. Winter visitors include the shoveler and savannah sparrow.

McGarry concludes that apartment projects, such as those proposed for various ridge areas, can only disrupt an ecological balance already partially disrupted by single family homes.

"Animals can live near man, but a safe distance is usually 400 to 1,000 yards, and even at this distance, one eye is usually turned in the direction of man."

He urges special measures to safeguard steelhead trout, whose principal spawning place is San Pedro Creek. Every year, it becomes more difficult for the steelhead, with manmade obstacles blocking passage to the upper reaches of the creek, where spawning is performed, said McGarry. In addition, since the creek drains the San Pedro Valley, it gets contaminated by street dirt, construction debris and fertilizers.

Among his recommendations:

—Set aside areas expressly for wildlife study.

—Environmental Impact Reports must give more consideration to the impact of land development upon wildlife and their ecosystems.

—Acquire more land for greenbelts or parks.

—Extend National Seashore program to Milagra and Sweeney ridges and to the watershed area.

—Control trail bikes, which foster erosion, destroy plant life and disrupt feeding and breeding.

—Establish wildlife habitat areas. Human habitat areas must be managed to co-exist with those of wildlife.

—Adopt open space zoning to save wildlife.

—If Interstate 380 is built, it should incorporate a land bridge, such as by tunneling, in order to allow freedom of movement of wildlife.

Mammals include squirrels, opossum, raccoons, bats, mice, rats, and a few and even the Assyrians proclaimed that they, not Kissio (and hence Rome) had turned the trick.

Under these circumstances, Rome plainly saw the necessity of a triumph, and for the first time the garlands, incense, music and cheering were to celebrate a bloody victory.

Kissio, exhausted from his labors, just as he might have been after a battle, arrived for his triumph fully expecting the admiration and adulation of Rome. Waiting outside the city, he spoke with friends. Included in the group was a journalist.

Kissio's astonishment at this treatment became Rome's chagrin. Slavs, Arabians, Egyptians, Gauls, Goths, and even the lowly Britons all claimed credit for what should have been Kissio's and Rome's alone.

Everyone wanted to know how he had fashioned this most remarkable success. Kissio, not an immodest man, described his many travels in detail. Question after question gave him the opportunity to display articulate talent.

Kissio tarried too long, however, before entering the city. For just as his chariot was about to leave the reporter asked a question.

"Why," asked Pontius

Pundit, "did you tell the Senate that your lands had no crop this year? Two ace reporters have visited your property, and there are wild berries growing on one of the back acres."

Kissio bit his lip. In anger he explained that one 100 acres, none of which bore corn, a few berries didn't really count.

The harm, however, had been done. Through the crowds along the route of the triumph the news of Kissio's embarrassment and rage spread.

What was to have been remembered as a tribute to extraordinary accomplishment came to be buried in doubt, discord and distrust.

Finding Jobs For Youth

By BOB PETERSON

Elaine Farmer has been

job hunting for more years than she wants to remember.

And everytime she finds a job, some teen-ager gets it.

The situation, however, is better than it sounds.

Ms. Farmer is a sales and merchandising coordinator

High School. That's much different than simply being a teacher of business practices

daily in the classroom.

And in this jobless era, particularly with summer vacation when jobs for teenagers are scarcer than the proverbial hen's tooth, Ms. Farmer's talents and connections are vital assets to the members of her classes.

For Ms. Farmer, teaching business practices is only one aspect of her teaching duties.

She also believes in placing her students in an actual work situation. She has about a 90 per cent success rate.

"I go out and sell the student to the employer," said accepted among students as one of the primary causes of Roman failure.

Kissio's own writings

he complained: "Why didn't Pontius Pundit have the sense to bring up the question after, instead of before the triumph? Had the rules of decorum and decency been observed, I still would have been required to discuss the testimony I had given before the Senate, but Rome would have had her day of glory at a time such days were badly needed.

That my personal problem was later resolved entirely in my favor did nothing to diminish the damage done to Rome on that dreadful day."

His notes went on:

"Rome's worst enemies never did her so much harm as did divisiveness, vindictiveness, and plain meanness within."

In most cases, it's not just a matter of summer employment. Students in Ms. Farmer's class work part-time (nights and on weekends) while attending school.

Ms. Farmer, who stressed she's always looking for job openings, said that whenever she places a student she explains to the employer the youth is studying business daily in the classroom.

Samuel Chandler
Patty
Hearst

Patty Hearst. Her case is straight from the Brothers Grimm — Here is a fairy tale: A beautiful princess is carried from her home by a beast that changes her into a creature that can never re-enter the home of her bereaved parents.

In wild reality she personifies the lost children who wander through the fairy tales and lurk in the nightmares of parents. She's Gretel "wandering ever deeper into the forest" leaving her parents, like Hansel's and Gretel's father, to never again enjoy "a single happy moment."

For us she recreates the nightmare of Beauty and the Beast, where in the lovely, virtuous heroine goes to placate the beast and stays to love him and adopt his ways. Therein she leaves us cold and shaking and crying with Princess Rosettes' mother. "No! No! I would far rather have my own head cut off."

Just as Patty recalls the unfortunate child of fairy tales and bad dreams, so do the other members of the Symbionese Liberation Army. As the children surrounding the witch in Jorina and Joringel each was once "a child with happy dancing eyes and arms outstretched in welcome."

But for them there was no good fairy to break the spell. For the high school cheer leader or the ministers' daughter, beauty and goodness did not win over evil. For the doctor's son there was death by fire and the end of "a stew of fearful ingredients."

All this leads to Shana Alexander's observation that we live in age when the mythological beast has become a reality.

Ms. Alexander calls it the age of "mind attack" when the beast uses techniques "originated under Lenin, honed under Stalin and perfected by Mao."

For Patty "the Beast" is a seven-headed cobra. Few know 'em now. In 1969 it was a hypnotic hippie who soaked his victims in dope then worked his sorcery; for the bank-burners of two or three years ago the beast was political oriented men who like Hamlet's uncle poured poison into the ears of his dupes.

Commenting on the appearance of "the beast" Shana Alexander observes in her article in Newsweek, July 10, that we have become a world of "changelings" wherein "bright-eyed young people" change into robbing and burning radicals.

Ms. Alexander writes "TV, too, makes changelings of us all. Life becomes instant replay." We hear the bullet that kills a man in the next town, we hear Cinque or someone like him scream, "Tell the pigs to carry rifles and shotguns."

With such media to command, "the beast" changes us all. As a result, writes Ms. Alexander, "Kids pick this stuff up." As evidence she reports that recently two busloads of schoolchildren journeyed from Berkeley to Los Angeles to give a choir recital. Instead of visiting Disneyland or going to a movie studio, the kids had voted overwhelmingly to tour the charred, burntout ruins of the SLA hide-out.

Thus it seems that ours has become the age of the fairy tale beast come alive. An era when "clocks run down and the earth stops." When "beasts, spooks, ghosts, poltergeists, magicians and sorcerers and witches wait to snatch away unsuspecting children." As Helen Hoke would say, we live with "muttered, mumbling mouthings of threatened vengeance and eerie evils, with spells and charms and bewitchings, with the changing of people into animals and back again, with effigies and wax figures into which pins are stuck to help a hant happen."

This is our era of world history.

Social hour will be from 6 p.m., followed by dinner at 6:45 p.m.

Mrs. Thelma Chernock, Anniversary Night chairman requests members confirm reservations with her by June 13.

Mrs. Dona Steely, District VI vice president of American Business Women's Association, will be guest speaker for the evening. Mrs. Steely was a 1972 National Publishing Committee member and served as president of the Candlewood Charter Chapter, Lakewood, in 1971.

She was charter president in 1970 and before joining the Candlewood Charter Chapter.

was recording secretary of the Bird of Paradise Chapter, Los Angeles.

In addition to her active role in American Business Women's Association, Mrs. Steely is the mother of two daughters and is employed as office manager of the Paul L. Armstrong Co.

She also is active in the Women's Division of Lakewood Chamber of Commerce.

The American Business Women's Association (ABWA) is an educational association which was founded in Kansas City, Mo., on Sept. 22, 1949.

There are more than 1,100 chapters in the association, and over 74,000 active members in all 50 states.

The major aims and purposes of this organization are the improvement of employee relations, keeping business women up to date on business techniques, and advancing women in business through more efficient service to business.

The American Business Women's Association believes that advancement and promotion must be earned, and it stresses this fact in urging its members to better themselves through education, either formal or informal, so they will be qualified for future advancement.

Individual chapters are encouraged to sponsor scholarships for women. The Golden West Charter Chapter awarded two scholarships last month.

Pacifica Student Wins Safety Poster Award

Catherine Glew, a student at Pacific Manor School in Pacifica, received an award June 5, for her entry in the American Automobile Association's School Traffic Safety Poster Contest.

The contest is sponsored annually in this area by the California State Automobile Association (AAA) to stimulate awareness of traffic safety through poster designs illustrating correct pedestrian behavior.

In March the CSAA held its 11th annual regional contest in San Francisco. Directly after the regional contest all entries were sent to Washington, D.C. for judging in the 30th annual national AAA contest.

The fire, discovered at about 9 p.m., was visible from many blocks around.

One Woman's Opinion On Returning to School

By MARY JANE CLINTON
Women's News Editor

Should a woman who has dropped out of the academic scene return to obtain a college degree?

If so, what are the options open to her?

These aspects of education were explored recently by Shirley Ebling, assistant director of the division of continuing education at the College of Notre Dame in Belmont.

Although the ebullient Miss Ebling deals with both men and women, for this interview she was especially interested in discussing women's re-entry and she's especially qualified to make her views known: she returned to Notre Dame to receive her undergraduate degree and is now working on her master's degree at Santa Clara University.

"I finished my degree in 1971," she said. "I was a single career woman who decided that I needed to have that 'piece of paper' to continue in the field of higher education. So I went back and studied part-time for five years and went through all the horrendous upheavals that anyone else goes through because I am an over-achiever as many returning women are. I found that one of the greatest things is peer support — someone to talk to — someone who is going through the same things that you are."

Now employed by Notre Dame, Shirley decided that she would broaden the base of the college's Expanding Lifestyles Program and gear it to the specific needs of women. Among the following services available are 1) counseling for career planning; 2) courses scheduled when children are in school; 3) special non-matriculated status to allow time for preparatory seminars; 4) preparatory seminar for entry or re-entry into college covering such topics as use of the library and term paper writing; and 5) implementation of the "Less Time, More Options" concept with possible credit for life experience. This latter concept opens up many paths for students to move toward a bachelor's degree in less time than the traditional four years and offers multiple options.

"Women today have the best of all possible worlds if Miss Ebling sees that women are given the confidence they often lack. "Women are unbelievable," she said. "They walk in and they are so frightened; they just need someone to understand. I can sit with them for an hour sometimes. Since

The next big thing, continued Shirley, is to find that college that will serve your needs and is aware of the part-time woman student.

"The reentering woman should ask questions; she should be pushy."

Shirley also advises women to use what is available currently in the community college system and points out that the College of San Mateo recently offered counseling service to assist local adults in exploring school and career possibilities. "This enables women to use the tests the college offers to its own students," she explained. "It is also the opportunity to research the fields that will have the greatest possibilities for jobs.

"One of the things we are doing for women at Notre Dame is creating ad hoc committees investigating the possibility of credit for 'Work Experience' and 'Life Experience'. This, combined with the College Level Examination tests, could save a woman a lot of time. We don't know how we're going to do it yet, but we are not alone in it. The American Association for Higher Education sponsored 'Non-Traditional Study — Credit for Experience' on May 10 at Drake University. That's a top-notch educational association."

Women should watch for these things, Shirley maintains. "You don't have to be a woman's libber, but you do have to have a chance to sit back and ask, 'I am a person and what do I want to do?'"

College isn't for everybody, Shirley realizes. "You should really give this some thought. Just because you have a degree doesn't mean that there will be five people at your doorstep offering jobs."

"Women should also be able to say, 'Yes, I've thought about this and I don't choose to do so.' Make your own decision, give it some thought. Don't hold up other people who may want to move ahead, but stand up for your own position."

Shirley stressed that motivation for returning to college is very important. "Remember," she said to a hypothetical interviewee, "if it's for a career, it's one thing, and you have to look for your college; if self-fulfillment is your goal, many colleges have beautiful programs."

In discussing finances, Shirley feels that she has to get at the fact that the returning woman is going to have to spend some money on herself. "I wish we could get a lot more of the women's organizations to sponsor scholarships for the returning woman. We have no financial aid (at Notre Dame) because the whole operation is for the incoming freshman."

Shirley is already looking forward to September and a large orientation program for the returning older student. "We are trying a buddy system A.I.M. Maturity, utilizing men and women who have returned to the day division and are peer group support, was started last fall, but it's a vulnerable kind of group because members are lost through graduation each semester."

Shirley is extremely proud of women's re-entry and the College of Notre Dame's contributions.

"Everybody keeps hearing about colleges closing down," she said, "but Notre Dame is alive and well. We are building a new life. We are no longer a four-year institution for girls up in the time."

Have you met "Clover," "Snow," "Bluebell" or "Eucalyptus"? Do you realize that your neighbor, in reality, may be "Kicket," "Squirtie" or "Snoopy"?

Well, it is true there are ladies in the Daly City area who answer to those names and a variety of other, equally unlikely appellations, or so I learned this week from Mrs. James Morino of the Daly City Girl Scouts.

The strange names are actually "camp" (you can read that "camp" in either of two ways and still be accurate) names for the women who will be leading local Girl Scouts this summer during their annual camping program.

July 8 the local council will take up temporary residence at Sugar Pine in Calaveras County under the leadership of camp director Mrs. Mary Ann Dale, known for the season as "Clover". The assigning of camp names was begun long ago to allow the girls to refer to their adult friends in Scouting without being formal or without being too familiar and using first names. The fun part is that the names are sometimes more descriptive and comfortable to the leaders than their real given names.

Should you not know the ladies involved you may have some fun trying to visualize them after reading the names they have selected for themselves or been given by the scouts. Mrs. Elaine McDowell is "Snow" and Mrs. Carole Klatt is "Bluebell". Others include, Mrs. Grace Winters, "Eucalyptus"; Mrs. Kris Dale, "Kicket"; Mrs. Janet Lyman, "Chickadee"; Mrs. Donna Barnes, "Marigold".

Leaders of the "Jumping Frog" unit are "Squirtie," Mrs. Linda Barnes; "Snoopy," Mrs. Jane Stewart and "Dustie" Mrs. Ellen Ridge.

Leading the "Rainbow Trout unit" are "Strawberry," Mrs. Pat Knox; "Little Squaw," Mrs. Stella Smith; "Tigger," Mrs. Laura Ridge and Mrs. Sue Scaduto, "Thimbleberry".

The Cadettes and younger senior scouts will be on "Mal Paso Hill" with "Bunny", Mrs. Bunne Paridini; "Thistle" Mrs. Margaret Connolly and "Pooh", Mrs. Darice Robinson.

In the backpacking, "Woodsman" unit are Mrs. Carole Ann Scott, "Thumper"; Mrs. Louise Anderson, "Bambu" and Mrs. Barbara Edwards, "Pine".

Camp activities will include swimming, crafts, badge workshops, folk dancing, archery, photography, hiking, star hiking, camp fires, hopefully some letter writing and such special events as an opening campfire on the first evening, an all-camp-cookout, a sleep-in-breakfast, an old fashioned picnic and a closing ceremony at the campfire.

VOLUNTEERS at Mary's Help Guild are invited to take advantage of the slower summer pace to attend the safety class some Wednesday afternoon.

The class will serve to refresh your memory about special safety procedures. Meetings begin at 3 p.m. in the lower floor classroom and last approximately 45 minutes.

More information is available to anyone calling the Department of Education at Mary's Help Hospital, 992-4000, extension 166.

THE DALY CITY Rotary will meet tonight for an evening of dining and business at Nick's Rock-a-Way in Pacifica.

The dinner party, to which the wives have been invited, will precede the installation of new officers. Outgoing president, Stan Breier, will install Floyd Gonnella and his executive board.

THE VOLUNTEERS from Foremost-McKesson's task force for Friends Outside have planned an Arts and Crafts Fair to be held June 26 and 27 to raise money for the Summer Camp and Field Trips program being undertaken by the Friends Outside.

Foremost-McKesson employees from 1 Post St. in San Francisco will be donating the handcraft objects which will be sold at the fair. Site of the sale will be announced next week.

Don't Be Persuaded By Insurance Twisters

By LORENE BEASLEY
Editor of BBB Barometer

What is an insurance twister? An insurance twister is an unorthodox operator who will omit or "twist" facts in an effort to persuade a policyholder to drop an existing insurance policy and buy a new one.

In some cases a change in an insurance policy may be warranted but in most cases it results in a decrease of the insurance value and an increase in the payments.

The Better Business Bureau advises the following precautions to be taken to avoid the loss of benefits on a current policy:

—Insist upon a written and signed summary of the agent's proposal outlining all the facts and comparing relative benefits under the present insurance policy with the proposed new policy.

—Send a copy of the proposal to the agent who sold the old policy and another to the company being recommended. A reputable firm will be glad to give an honest appraisal of the policies.

—Check with the old company to see what they have to offer if a change of policy is in order. Often it can make the change over with a smaller loss of benefits than a new insurance company would be able to do.

The National Association of Insurance Commissioners give the following reasons a change of policy may work to the disadvantage of the policy holder:

—Heavier initial costs of writing life insurance are charged against premiums paid in the earlier years. Replacement of an old policy with a new one results in the policyholder paying these costs twice.

—Value of life insurance policy as an investment increases as the policy grows older.

—In some existing policies, disability benefits and provisions for installment payments and annuity income are more favorable to the beneficiary and to the policy owner than those available in new policies.

A new policy may have the effect of reinstating the period during which the policy may be contested by the company or during which the coverage may be excluded by suicide, either or both of which period may have expired under the existing policy.

—Life insurance policies provide a unique medium for safe and systematic method of saving. Replacement may involve sacrifices of these advantages.

Flower Arranging Class Set

Mrs. Ann Glimme will instruct a creative dried flower-arranging program for the Daly City Recreation Department during the summer months.

The program is designed for persons who are 16 years of age and older.

The eight-week program will utilize dried flowers and grasses as well as collection items such as driftwood, shells, and pine cones. Table arrangements, wall plaques and unique gifts will be created in a variety of containers.

For registration details, call 992-5356.

Marriage Vows Recited Locally

MR. AND MRS. HOWARD KUCHLENZ

(Susan Ammiro)

Ammiro-Kuchlenz

Holy Angels Catholic Church in Colma was the setting for the marriage of Susan Ammiro and Howard Kuchlenz, who honeymooned in Mexico City and Acapulco.

The newlyweds are now living in San Mateo. They received felicitations after the wedding at a reception at Brentwood Lodge in South San Francisco.

When Susan said her vows, she was dressed in a floor length gown detailed with white appliques on English net. Pale pink soft satin dresses were chosen by members of her bridal party. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Ted Ammiro of San Mateo.

Cathy Kotta was the matron of honor, and secondary attendants included Judy Curran and Marianne Honeycutt, both of Belmont. Janice Ritzau of Millbrae and Sue Guastucci of San Bruno, sister of the bridegroom.

Flower girls for their uncle's wedding were Dana and Laura Guastucci who wore printed cotton pique frocks. Danny Murphy, the bride's godson, was the ring bearer.

Best man for his brother was Geoff Kuchlenz. Ted Ammiro, the bride's brother, shared ushering duties with Doug White of San Jose, Ric Sperry of San Mateo and Bob Guastucci, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride is also the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ammiro of San Mateo. She is a Mercy High School graduate. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howy Kuchlenz of Millbrae. He is an alumnus of Mills High School and San Jose State University.

Forman-Jones

Temple Emanu El in San Francisco was the setting for the marriage of Norene Diane Forman and Stanley Lawrence Jones, both of Daly City.

Norene is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Forman of South Mayfair, Daly City, and Stanley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Jones of Skyline Drive, Daly City.

Following the wedding, a dinner-dance reception was held at Russo's Distillery in San Bruno. The couple honeymooned in Hawaii and is now residing in Burlingame. Norene's maid of honor was Donna Forman, and her bridesmaids included Janice Domerque, Nanette Horan, Julie Heick and Candy Keller.

Stanley's best man was Jeff Jones, and his ushers included Pat O'Hare, Frank Smigelsky, Jeff Piccinini and Piero Hovi.

Norene is employed as a bank teller, and Stanley is in business with his father.

Good morning, good cooks

Recently I attended a club luncheon and was asked to bring an entree. Since about 10 other members also were assigned entrees and most of us would be bringing casseroles, I decided to bring this unusual dish. It's easy to make, makes a large quantity and was received well at the luncheon.

SAUSAGE RICE CASSEROLE

2 pounds link sausage, cut in pieces
1 medium onion, chopped
2 Tablespoons chopped green pepper
8 large stalks of celery, cut in small pieces
6 cups water
2 packages dry chicken noodle soup three-fourths cup rice
1 large can sliced mushrooms
1/4 cup sliced almonds

Cut the two pounds sausage links into bite size pieces, brown and pour off most of the grease. Add the one chopped onion, two tablespoons green pepper, and eight stalks celery to the grease and cook until tender.

Boil six cups water, add the two packages dried soup mix and the three-fourths cup rice. Cook 15 minutes or until rice is tender. Combine the browned sausage, cooked vegetables and the drained mushrooms. Pour into large lightly greased casserole and top with the fourth cup slivered almonds. Bake in 350-degree oven 30 minutes or until bubbling hot. Serves 8 generously.

Last week's recipe for oatmeal cake reminded me of this gem. It has the added attraction of raisins and nuts.

SCOTCH SPICE CAKE

1 1/2 cup quick cooking rolled oats one-third cup each boiling water and undiluted canned milk
1 1/4 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and cloves
1/2 cup each raisins and chopped nuts
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 cup shortening
2 unbeaten eggs

Combine the half cup oats with the one-third cup each boiling water and canned milk. Stir together and set aside while you mix the rest of the cake.

Sift the one and one-fourth cups flour with the half teaspoon each soda, salt, cinnamon and cloves. Stir in the half cup each raisins and nuts.

Place the half cup shortening in mixing bowl and cream until light, gradually add the one cup brown sugar and fourth cup granulated sugar. Cream well and blend in the two eggs, one at a time, beating after each addition. Stir in the oatmeal mixture.

Add the sifted dry ingredients gradually to the creamed oatmeal mixture; mix thoroughly.

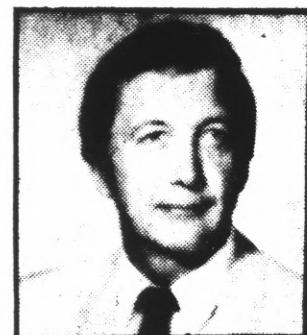

Turn into 9-inch square pan, well greased and lightly floured on bottom only; bake in 350-degree oven 45 to 50 minutes. Cool and frost.

FROSTING

1 1/2 cups sifted confectioners sugar
2 Tablespoons soft butter
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 to 2 Tablespoons hot coffee

Add the one and one-half cups sugar to the two tablespoons soft butter, blend well. Add the half teaspoon vanilla and enough hot coffee to make a good spreading consistency.

Grant to Finance N. County Jail

Supervisors Make First Budget Cuts

By BOB HEMINGWAY

San Mateo County Board of Supervisors were told Thursday that a grant from the Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice will help finance a 13-month program of staffing the Daly City Jail so that it can handle prisoners booked in the North County.

Also making its first cuts in the proposed 1974-75 San Mateo County budget of $141,540,415, the Board of Supervisors Thursday trimmed a total of $45,000 from the recommended County Probation Department budget.

However, the board left intact all of the financing for the Ellsworth House program and approved an application for a $250,000 federal grant, a portion of which will help finance the Ellsworth House project in San Mateo. Ellsworth House is a supervised alternative to county jail for convicted law breakers.

Despite the deletion, the Probation Department budget still reflects an increase of $914,296 over 1973-74, with a total budget of $8,522,254.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald was all for knocking $700,000 out of the Probation Department budget, primarily, he said, because he is disappointed with the juvenile probation program.

"Frankly," the supervisor stated, "I don't see the results."

Fitzgerald said he was concerned by a series of incidents last fall and winter in which juveniles were involved in petty thefts and vandalism at a Foster City shopping center.

One juvenile in particular, he contended, was quickly released after being taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Home, and was back the next day doing the same thing.

"The juveniles are beating the system," Fitzgerald maintained. "Then when they are 18 or 19 they are taken to county jail, and they are really on their way. They were not rapped on the wrist at the time by the Probation Department."

If the laws under which the Probation Department is working can't do something for this type of situation, the supervisor stated, then the Probation Department should seek a change in the laws.

"We're spending money, and its nebulous in the results," he said.

Chief County Probation Officer Loren Beckley defended his department, saying it had done a "great job" in the situation.

"The Probation Department can hardly be blamed for the problems," he stated. "We provided guidance and assistance (to police) in the problems at the shopping center."

He reported that there is no longer a juvenile problem at the shopping center.

Board Chairwoman Jean Fassler asserted that Beckley and his staff "have done a fine job in reviewing what is and is not working."

"I don't think cutting the budget is going to get at the root of the problem," Mrs. Fassler added. "It is up to the judges, the Juvenile Probation Department and the parents."

Fitzgerald insisted that he was not unreasonable in proposing the big budget cut, noting that the budget for the business management division of the Probation Department alone had gone up $222,000.

County Manager M. D. Tarsches reported that more than $500,000 of the total department budget increase was for salaries, plus food costs at the juvenile home and the county maintenance of Ellsworth House.

As to Ellsworth House, Beckley reported that since the first three men were admitted to the facility, "it has been clearly demonstrated that it is possible to operate an open rehabilitation facility with relatively serious offenders in the heart of a city."

As of May 24, 1974, 30 months after the facility opened, a total of 116 men had entered the program, 80 per cent of them sentenced after felony convictions.

From the beginning Beckley said, there has been no difficulty with neighbors, the media has been favorable and the San Mateo police have been cooperative and supportive of the program.

Three of the 116 have been rearrested while in the program; Beckley reported, all while on weekend leave — one for drunken driving, one for forgery and one for petty theft.

He reported that in comparison with a group of persons who had served terms at the county jail honor camp and work-furlough facilities, the inmates who had been placed in Ellsworth House showed a higher recidivism, according to surveys following the first six months and the first year of operation of Ellsworth House.

However, Beckley noted in a report to the board, as of March, 1974, the Ellsworth House "graduates" now have a recidivism rate of 5 per cent less than the comparison group. He expects the latter trend to continue, the chief probation officer reported.

Graduates of both Ellsworth House and the comparison groups will continue to be rated every six months on recidivism, employment, living situation, criminal or delinquent associates, drug and alcohol abuse and difficulties encountered by the probation officer in contacting the probationer.

Ellsworth House residents maintain a better employment rate than members of the comparison group, Beckley said, having earned $150,000 while residents, as compared to $36,000 earned by the comparison group.

Also, Beckley reported, graduates of Ellsworth House one year out of custody have an employment rate of 73 per cent, while the comparison group employment rate is 54 per cent.

He anticipates, Beckley said, that the recidivist rate for Ellsworth House graduates will drop from the present 35 per cent to no higher than 20 per cent in the coming year and that the employment record "will be at least maintained."

The $250,000 grant from the Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice in Washington, D.C. includes $35,000 to assist the county, which will contribute $121,892, in maintaining the Ellsworth House program.

Major portions of the grant will go for extending the ROR (release on own recognizance) program to the San Mateo and Daly City jails and to finance a 13-month program of staffing the Daly City jails so that it can handle prisoners booked by North County law enforcement jurisdictions other than Daly City.

The $45,000 in Probation Department budget cuts were suggested by Beckley after he was asked by board members where some trimming could be done.

OFFICER JAMES Lambrechts is sworn in and welcomed as a new member of the Daly City Police Department by Acting Chief David A. Hansen. Lambrechts is presently in training with other recruits in the in-house basic training program. Six other new officers are presently studying at the San Francisco Police Academy.

Wife Must Face Charge

Linda Anderson, Pacifica housewife charged with shooting her husband as he lay in his bed taking a nap, was held to answer Friday on a charge of murder.

Northern Judicial District Judge James O. Miller set July 3 for her arraignment on the murder charge in Superior Court in Redwood City. Meanwhile, she remains free on bail of $1,000.

Although that bail is low for a capital offense, Judge Miller reportedly felt that Mrs. Anderson could be trusted to return to court, rather than desert her home and two small children.

Only two witnesses were called by Deputy Dist. Atty. William F. Amideo.

Dr. Arthur Lack, pathologist for the coroner's office, testified death was from a bullet in the head. Remnants of a .22 calibre bullet were found in the skull, he said.

Pacifica Police Officer Allan Pasco testified as to Mrs. Anderson's demeanor when he arrested her in the home of a neighbor.

The most compelling testimony, however, was a tape recording of Mrs. Anderson's report of the killing, made shortly after her arrest, according to Amideo.

The incident began when her husband received a call from a food market about a check she wrote. Amideo said the recording stated. The husband became angry, made numerous accusations against her, called her names, and threatened her, said Amideo.

Mrs. Anderson told police, according to the account of the recording by Amideo, that her husband had struck her in the past and that she was afraid of him.

He then took his nap. Not knowing what he would do when he woke up, she sat on the living room couch and thought for a few moments according to the report of her tape. After 20 minutes, Amideo said the recording stated, she went into the garage, got a revolver and loaded it. She then stepped into the master bedroom, and shot him as he lay there, according to Amideo's account of the tape.

Mrs. Anderson, herself, did not testify personally in court.

Her attorney, Richard Halpern argued that the evidence itself was insufficient to determine a first degree murder, since it did not show that there existed any malice aforethought. Instead, he stressed, it was a crime of passion.

Amideo, however, replied that since Mrs. Anderson did take 20 minutes to think about the offense, there was no question that she did plan the offense.

FOR THEIR ANNUAL fireworks sale the Westlake Catholic Men and Women of Our Lady of Mercy Parish will have their traditional red, white and blue striped tent set up on the corner of Southgate and Lake Merced Boulevard at the southern edge of the Westlake Shopping Center. Pictured in the booth making final plans for the one week sale are (from left) Seb Passanisi, Ginger Loyd, Kathy Petrucela and Dianne Schou. George Snell, chairman of the fireworks sale, has announced that the booth will be open each day from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. from June 28 to July 4. All proceeds from this event will be directed to the parish building fund.

Killer Returned To State Prison

A 40-year-old man whose first-degree murder conviction for the shooting death of a Daly City police officer was reversed by the California Supreme Court has pleaded guilty to second-degree murder.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge Gerald E. Ragan Thursday sentenced Leandro A. Sedeno back to state prison, but for a term of five years to life. He had been serving a life term.

DALY CITY POLICE Officers Dennis Prator (left) and George Guido (center), welcome a new member to the Daly City Toastmasters Club, Ray Maxwell of South San Francisco. The off-duty officers, both of whom are assigned to the Patrol Division, work the hours of 4 p.m. to midnight. They arise in time to attend the weekly Wednesday meetings at the Westlake Library, which run from 7 to 8:30 a.m. The officers attend as part of the Speakers Bureau Program of the department. Toastmasters International is celebrating its 50th anniversary year. The Daly City Club has some openings for membership, and any man or woman 18 years of age or older is eligible to join.

Colleges Drop Required P.E.

A decades-long tradition has fallen by the wayside in San Mateo County.

Physical education classes are no longer mandatory for every student attending schools in the San Mateo Community College District.

Voting unanimously June 12, the trustees of the district ordered that, as of July 1, only those students seeking the junior college associate of arts degree will be required to take PE courses.

Two such courses are a graduation requirement. PE is no longer required for students who are not trying to acquire the AA degree, the only degree that a junior college can offer.

Most students in this district do not seek the degree. The trustees have been wrestling with this issue for almost a full year.

Girl Scouting

SENIORS graduating from Daly City Senior Girl Scout troops were honored recently by their friends at the Jade Dragon for dinner.

Louise Anderson, Sue Scaduto, Charlene Menn, Sharon Pardini and Jodi Wyner were graduated from Senior Scout troop No. 24, led by Mesdames Lawrence Anderson and Salvatore Scaduto.

Remaining with the troop and looking forward to receiving new ninth and tenth grade Scouts in the fall are Elizabeth Galvin, Glynis Heissenbuttel, Maura Jones, Debbie Swain, Leslie Schwarzbach, Debbie Klatt and Maureen Byron.

COURT OF AWARDS of Junior Troop No. 2817 recently at Westlake Lutheran Church, featured the bridging of nine girls into Cadette Scouting.

Teresa Cinti, Gail

Huskins, Dawne Holder, Donna Pasley, Sharon Muniz, Linda Rogers, Bridget LeDay, Liza Vitalis and Chanel Zeni received Cadette patches, friendship pins and new Cadette handbooks as well as their yearly membership pins.

JUNIORS OF Troop 2817 also presented Girl Scout emblem patches, change purses, friendship pins and membership awards to 10 younger girls remaining with the troop next year.

Linda Farnand, Marva Woodlief, Pamela Wong, Yanira Silva, Dana Aldrich, Lorraine Parker, Pat Davis, Lisa Rodriguez, Britta Sundberg and Christine Bergstrom are the 10 girls.

Mesdames Doris Huskins, Cathy Cinti, Diane Holder, and Ann Woodlief also were honored at the candlelight ceremonies, as girls joined their parents and troop friends for their awards ceremony.

TROOP NO. 1810 Brownies receiving their wings recently at Vista Grande school included Debbie O'Toole, Cookie Pierce, Tracy Ryans, Leslie Sylvia and Francesca Villegas.

Gina Cadwell, Chrissy Evanoff, Linda Jones, Renee Lopez, Lorelei Morino and Cindy Pierce received their first year pins.

A summer elementary remedial tutorial program again will be available to kindergarten through sixth grade students attending South San Francisco schools.

This program is sponsored by the South San Francisco Information and Referral Center in cooperation with the South San Francisco Unified School District.

Funds for the program will be provided by the Neighborhood Youth Corps of San Mateo County, the San Mateo County Economic Opportunity Commission, the City of South San Francisco, the school district and the SSFUSD PTA Council. The school district will be responsible for the operation of the program.

Tutorial classes will be conducted at Martin School from June 24 through August 2.

Four credentialed elementary teachers, assisted by 35 high school age tutors, will conduct the six-week program.

A maximum of 150 kindergarten through sixth grade students will be enrolled for intensive tutoring in reading, mathematics and language development. Classes will begin at 1:30 p.m. and end at 5 p.m. daily. A variety of creative classroom activities will supplement the intensive tutoring sessions.

Parents may enroll their children in both the school district's regular morning elementary summer school and the afternoon remedial tutorial programs. Bus transportation to Martin School will be provided by the school district for students enrolled in the regular morning summer school programs at Foxridge, Skyline and El Rancho schools.

Parents must arrange for transportation from Martin

School to their homes at the end of each school day.

A supervised lunchroom facility will be provided from 1 to 1:30 p.m. Since no cafeteria service will be available, students should bring "brown-bag lunches."

Students also will benefit from six school-supervised field trips to outstanding Bay Area attractions. A mid-afternoon "snack" program is also planned.

Parents interested in enrolling their children in this should telephone the school district for enrollment information immediately.

Part of the new system has been in service. The city now has one emergency number — for fire, police and ambulance — 873-3333. This is a forerunner of a nationwide 911 system, according to police.

Civic Ballet Holds Spring Tea in DC

Members of the Civic Ballet, sponsored by the City of Daly City, Recreation Department held a tea June 1, at the Westlake Community Center.

The senior members baked many assorted cookies, and the junior members brought tea sandwiches. Diane Roberts narrated the program, which featured costumes worn in the ballet programs dating back to 1970. The original dance music was played as each girl showed off the costumes and demonstrated a few dance steps.

Plants were given away as prizes.

Election By District Supported

San Bruno Mayor Anthony Govenale and Portola Valley Councilwoman Eleanor Boushey, co-chairpersons of the Councilmen for the District Election Committee, announced that over 75 councilmen and mayors throughout San Mateo County have endorsed the proposed District Election Charter Amendment.

Mayor Govenale, a San Bruno councilman since 1971 and active in North County politics, said, "The results of the recent supervisorial election show that the people want a change in the expensive campaigns that are required to elect supervisors under the present system of at-large elections." Presently, San Mateo County is only one of three counties in California who elect their supervisors on an at-large basis.

Mrs. Boushey, a Portola Valley councilwoman, and former mayor, who has been active in Southern San Mateo politics, added that "electing supervisors by district will not only lessen the influence of special wealthy interest groups, but will make supervisors more accountable to their constituents than under the present system."

Govenale went on to say that the deadline for collecting signatures is June 28. A total of 21,000 signatures is required to place this amendment on November's ballot. "People may sign a petition at most shopping centers this coming weekend, or they may call headquarters at 347-1256."

Grand Knight Hartig Feted At Convention

Grand Knight George Hartig reports that Marian Council No. 3773 was the recipient of three awards from the State Council at the Knights of Columbus State Convention recently held in Anaheim.

Marian Council, which represents Colma, Daly City, Pacifica and South San Francisco, was awarded a first place trophy in Division II for excellence in the Service Programs of the Knights of Columbus. It is the third consecutive first place finish for the council.

The programs for which the trophy was awarded and their directors are as follows: program director, James Haug; church activities, Enrique Lamont; community activities, Robert Hale; council activities, LaVerne Mogensen, and youth activities, Raymond Thurman.

In addition, the council was awarded a first place plaque in the yearbook competition and a second place certificate in the bulletin competition.

The yearbook and monthly bulletins are prepared by Thomas and Virginia Curr. Hartig reports the council is now eligible to receive the Star Council Award from the Supreme Council.

Milk for The Scouts

The San Mateo County Council, Boy Scouts of America, announces the sponsorship of the special milk program.

Milk will be made available to Scouts and non-Scouts at no separate charge and will be provided without regard to race, color or national origin in its summer camp operation this year.

Milk will be provided at Cutler Scout Reservation in the Santa Cruz Mountains and at Camp Kit Carson at 8,000 feet in the Sierra Nevada Mountains.

Members of the Civic Ballet who modeled were: Cynthia Abruzzo, Nancy Brown, Michelle Correa, Hadil Quirreh and Lisa Ricker.

Natalie Seitz, the only original member of the Civic Ballet wore the first costume to be worn in a Civic Ballet Program.

Your Plants Need Food to Remain Healthy

By IVA NEWMAN

When we humans lack certain essential nutritive elements, we get serious nutritional diseases such as rickets from a lack of calcium, phosphorus, and vitamin D; anemia from a lack of iron; and scurvy from a lack of ascorbic acid. Modern knowledge of nutrition is emphasized in newspapers and various periodicals until anyone who will take the trouble to read, understand and use it has control of health, insofar as they are affected by food.

Because a better understanding of nutritional needs of humans is known, farmers are now better able to feed their livestock for maximum health and productiveness.

Plants, too, are living things. They take food and convert it into body tissues and energy; they can be healthy and vigorous or they can be ill and die. Plants have acute diseases and minor ailments and they require certain nutritive elements just as human beings do. Plants need a balanced diet just as we humans do.

You cannot tell plant to stick out its tongue and say "Ah," but you can examine it for symptoms of ill health, such as nutritional deficiency if you will take the time to get acquainted with some of the telltale signs.

Recently some of our Times readers have brought in sick vegetable plants. Most of our vegetable crops need some of the minor elements as well as the so-called major plant foods, nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, and sulphur. Here on the Peninsula, where most gardeners use an alkali water, sulphur is particularly needed. A sulphur deficiency in tomato plants should be suspected when the lower leaves become yellowish green, the stems are small in diameter and woody. The stems are also more elongated than those of healthy plants. If you haven't used sulphur on your soil for the past few years we suggest you spread one tablespoon soil sulphur around the dripline of your tomato plants, work it into the top inch or so of soil and water well.

Nitrogen Best Known
Nitrogen is one of the best known of the essential plant-foods. A deficiency of nitrogen in the soil used for growing vegetables results in poor growth, poor color and low production. The first symptom of nitrogen deficiency in tomatoes is very slow growth and a lighter green color in the tips of the leaves at the top of the plant. Leaves remain small and from a yellowish green the color of the veins changes to a deep purple. In cucumbers early symptoms are stunted growth and the normally green leaves fading to a yellow green. The fruit on these nitrogen-starved plants is frequently light in color.

A potash (potassium) deficiency causes tomato plants to grow slowly, young leaves become crinkled and older leaves turn grayish green and develop a yellowish green along the margins. Cabbage plants become bronzed on the border of the leaves and carrots develop curled leaves.

Phosphorus usually is found in sufficient amounts in local soils in private gardens. A lack of sufficient phosphorus will cause the underside of a tomato leaf to become a reddish-purple and fruit to be late in setting.

Calcium is another element that is usually found in adequate amounts in Peninsula soils. However, if your tomato plants have yellow leaves on the upper part of the plant, and green ones on the lower portion, better have your soil tested for a calcium deficiency.

Magnesium influences the hardness plus the size of the root and the fruit of vegetable plants. A lack of sufficient magnesium will cause leaves on tomato plants to become brittle. It will also cause the veins to remain dark while the areas in between turn yellow. Cucumbers and squash are very sensitive to an unbalance of nutrients in the soil.

Plants need only a very small amount of boron but growers of vegetable crops have found that most vegetables need boron. Scientists have found that normal growth of most all vegetable plants requires some boron. Boron deficiency in root crops is known as brown heart disease because a dark-brown, water-soaked area is found in the center of the root or it may have a hollow center with discolored flesh. We have had no complaints on carrots with this deficiency.

Iron Needed Here

Iron is indispensable for plants and it is the one nutrient most frequently found lacking in our Peninsula soils. This is frequently the case in alkaline soils. It is not that the soil is deficient in iron but it becomes locked in the soil and thus unavailable to the plants. The outstanding symptom of iron deficiency is usually the development of yellow leaves on the upper parts of the plants. Because of the alkaline conditions of our soil and water, gardeners are advised to use a chelated form of iron when an iron deficiency shows up on plants.

Copper has been found to be an essential plant food for vegetables. However, our soil seems to have enough of this mineral for our plants needs, possibly because copper is widely used in spray solutions for such problems as peach leaf-curl and shot-hole fungus on peaches, almonds and apricots.

The average home gardener cannot be expected to have his soil professionally tested each time he sets out a new plant or sows a row of seed. However, he can be expected to add a fair amount of humus material to his soil each time before he plants. He can also be expected to read the label on any fertilizer he buys to be sure he is getting his money's worth.

The government insists that every sack or package of fertilizer list the amount of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash, in that order, on the label. Some companies go a bit further and list other elements their fertilizer contains.

Some of the newer slow-release fertilizers also list the sulphur and iron content of their fertilizers. Although these fertilizers cost a bit more they are worth it in a saving of time and the availability of the necessary plant nutrients all during the growing period. Always read all of the label to see what the material contains, how long it will be available, how it should be applied and the amount that should be applied for different plants.

Students' Project Aids Colma Invalid

A brave lady who has been confined to a hospital bed and wheelchair for the past two years is going to make it home a lot sooner than she thought.

It's because of four Stanford University engineering students who took her on as a semester project. They have built a $900 hydraulically-operated wheelchair lift which will get her into her mobile home in Colma.

The recipient of Stanford students' "good deed," which should earn them "A's," is Mrs. Charlotte Jackson, about 57.

Mrs. Jackson is a paraplegic. Her condition resulted from a blood clot, located mid-chest.

As her physical therapist, Pat Fischetti (senior therapist for Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center) put it, "It's something that basically can happen to any one. Until noon of October 4, 1972, Charlotte Jackson was a happy, healthy busy housewife."

Suddenly, she developed lower chest pains. As Mrs. Jackson puts it, "I thought I was having a heart attack — and was ready to go."

She initially panicked, then got hold of herself and sat down to wait for her husband.

Meanwhile she developed progressive numbness of the lower limbs. By 7 p.m. she was partially paralyzed from the waist down.

When her distressed husband, Maurice, came home, he immediately rushed her to Peninsula Hospital. There began a series of exhaustive tests. It was determined she had a blood clot about mid-chest. How it happened, why — no one knows. But Mrs. Jackson had to undergo critical surgery involving the spinal column. It left her totally paralyzed from above the rib cage down.

She doesn't whimper. She says, "Never give up. I'll never give up in a million years!"

As far as Pat Fischetti is concerned, it was "God's will" — "pure luck," what have you, that led Stanford Professor E. G. Chilton of the Mechanical Engineering department 113 to connect with Pat when he called to find out if there was any engineering project that Stanford students could accomplish to help a handicapped patient.

Pat seized on it. She told him about Mrs. Jackson, the problem that resulted in trying to get her a wheelchair lift which would hoist her into her trailer home at the Meadowbrook Mobile Home Manor. Mrs. Jackson and her husband have lived there for 19 years. He is presently unemployed and landed in the hospital himself for three operations involving the lower back last year. He cannot maneuver a wheelchair up the steps leading to a trailer home.

The state Medical and Vocational Rehabilitation Department rejected an application for a $900 hydraulically-operated lift.

That's where the Stanford students came in. Professor Chilton assigned four of his best to the project. It had to be completed, and in excellent operating order by the end of this semester. Right now, only the finishing touches remain. All of its six by 7 feet plus are resting in the Stanford mechanical engineering lab. It's a beauty. It cost about $225 to complete. No one has made any attempt to bill Crystal Springs or Mrs. Jackson yet.

Within the next few days,

the Malcolm Drilling Co. of Redwood City, which is donating its time and effort, thanks to Pat's appeal, will drill deep holes for the lift's

After that Mrs. Jackson will just wheel up to what was once a stairway, zoom herself into a trailer, and pick up where she left off, cooking, cleaning, and doing

all the chores around the trailer.

Too tough? Not for her. She's got the spirit that won't give up.

One thing she hopes for very much, that she can meet the skilled and gifted young students who made it possible for her to go home.

They are: Ila Montalvo Roel, who comes from Peru and who is working on her master's degree. Working with her have been Gordon Kimball, Mike Kast and Bill Rorke.

Mrs. Jackson's unknown good Samaritans would be happy to know that Mrs. Jackson is working hard to regain use of her legs. She already manages very well from a wheelchair. And, she has been able to work her way along parallel bars with one leg brace instead of two.

The only thing that stopped her from going home has been that stairway. Now that the problem has been licked, Charlotte Jackson is all set to pick up where she left off years ago.

Four Win Swimming Honors in Pacifica

A double tie in the girl and boy outstanding swimmer competition highlighted judging in Pacifica's recent swimming championships at Terra Nova High School's pool.

Patti Reardon and Margi Bantowsky were selected for the girls and Peter Kern and Jeff Littlefield for the boys to have their names inscribed on the Horner G. Troy perpetual trophy.

The dual selection in each category is unprecedented, according to meet officials.

The annual event is sponsored jointly by the Pacifica Park, Beach and Recreation Department and the Pacifica Lions Club, and is prepared and staffed by the Pacifica Sea Lions Swim Team Parents Organization.

The championship consists of one night of time trials and another of final events.

The best six times in the trials qualify for the finals. However for the benefit of the beginning swimmers, ribbons are awarded for first, second and third places in all trial heats.

In the finals, points are given to each swimmer according to the way they place, and the three top point getters are awarded trophies at the end of the meet.

GIRLS
Six/under first, Becky Auleb; second, Jane Rinehart; eighth/under, first, Kathy Auleb; second, Kerry Lemos; third, Terri Lauer; 10/under, first, Robin Kirby; second, Annabell Holland; third, Marlies Will; 11/12 first, Margit Bantowsky; second, Jane Morgan; third, Dawn Van Brunt; 13/14, first, Corky Bryant; second, Stacie Kashevareff; third, Sue Auleb; 15/17, first, Patti Reardon; second, Sue Stark; third, Judy Robison.

The Perfect Forehand

(This is the second in a series of beginning tennis lessons being taught by San Mateo tennis pro John Reed.)

By GARRY NIVER & JOHN REED

The second phase of beginning tennis has to do with the racquet, grip and forehand stroke. But John Reed was still trying to figure out what happened to all of his painstaking instruction from lesson one. The scene on court resembled a bunch of drunks trying to catch hummingbirds with butterfly nets.

"I like to break the racquet down into three parts," explains Reed, "the face, throat and hand."

"The racquet is merely an extension of the arm, wrist and hand. "Next is the grip. There are four popular kinds — Australian, Western, Eastern and Continental. And I'm a proponent of the Australian grip, which is basically like shaking hands with the racquet." Reed adds.

And one of the most important shots in tennis, assuming you have string in your racquet, is the forehand. According to Reed, the forehand is also broken down into three segments — backswing, contact and follow-through.

"You can't have one without the other and expect to have a good forehand," states Reed. "A player should assume a ready stance, with the knees slightly flexed and the back fairly straight. The key to a good stroke is to anticipate where the ball is going."

"In completing a good forehand, the racquet should be brought back just below the hip, with the face open and, at the same time, with the feet pivoting."

"Now," continues Reed, "you should see where the ball is going to bounce and step into it. The most controlled shot is when you meet the ball right off your left foot with the racquet face slightly below the center of the ball."

Australian Forehand grip

"Whatever you do," cautions Reed, "don't lead in with your wrist."

"And, once you have made contact with the ball, lift out the stroke long and high in the follow-through."

"Another note of warning. When you step into the ball to make contact, don't lift up or you will end up dubbing the ball into the net. Also, don't try to add power on the follow-through or you will lose control of where you want the ball to go."

"And remember," concludes Reed, "timing and rhythm are much more important than power in tennis."

Score: Reed 6-6, Niver 0-0.

Recognition

Local news is rampant this week, especially from Skyline College, which is finally getting some name recognition.

One of the ways Skyline is getting this recognition is through its athletic program. For example, all three of Skyline's entrants in the California State Junior College Track Championships finished within the top five in their events, thus earning All-American honors and earning the Trojan team, "officially, the unofficial," as the Skyline Press called it, top small college position; quite an accomplishment for former S.F. State coach Bob Lualhati.

Soph Jim Wyatt placed fourth in the 440 intermediate hurdles; frosh Ike Allmond took fourth in the 120 high hurdles; and freshman Tony Fotinos was fifth in the mile.

Although no official small college ranking exists, Skyline was the best scoring small college in both the Northern California Championships and the State Championships.

Wyatt's fourth, incidentally, was his first 440 HH loss of the year, but it didn't prevent him from being honored as the Outstanding Graduating Athlete at the Skyline Spring Sports Banquet. Wyatt, in fact, won that accolade not only for his outstanding track work, but also for his academic achievements.

Most Valuable Players honors for the track team went jointly to Wyatt and Bart Pierce, who specialized in the 120 HH. Fotinos and Allmond shared the Most Improved Athlete award.

The tennis team, which coach Paul Welles led to its most successful season (5-6 league record), named third ranked player Terry LaPorte its Most Valuable Player. LaPorte had compiled a 14-8 record.

Fifth seeded Paul Yanez was recognized as the Most Improved Player, while the number one man, Mike Fitzgerald, was named team captain.

SKYLINE GOLF'S Most Valuable Player was Ed Campos, a City College of San Francisco transfer with a 78.5 stroke average.

Baseball also had a shared Most Valuable Player trophy, went to shortstop Phil Frederico and hurler Jim Raymond. Second sacker Bob Trask was named Most Improved.

Coach Bill Herren lauded a team which had a 10-8 conference record this year.

Meanwhile, Walt Rilliet, the man in charge of all of this and certainly largely responsible for the upswing in the Skyline athletic program, had a hard decision to make and made it reluctantly when he put down the reigns as varsity basketball coach in order to be the full-time physical education division head and athletic director, starting in the fall.

With expansion of the program continuing (football and aquatics are on the way), Rilliet had to make the decision for the good of the college and his nervous system.

The former San Francisco State track and field and football star compiled a 65-74 record in his five year tenure as head court man. He will continue as an assistant coach and scout.

At San Mateo High, before he arrived at Skyline, Rilliet's basketball teams won three Mid-Peninsula championships. He also coached track and football, there, and later became vice principal.

ANOTHER LOCAL coaching change will be taking place at Oceana High in the fall, when Bill Gray replaces Ed Larios as head football coach.

Gray, an assistant coach for the past two years, is taking over by mutual consent, as personal obligations have handicapped Larios, he feels, in the duties he must perform as a head coach. So, Larios will now be Gray's assistant.

MORE LOCAL NOTES: One of the best kept secrets of the year was the fact that Steve Shirley, Terra Nova's Wunderkind southpaw hurler and hitter, was drafted on the second round of the baseball draft by the Dodgers. It wasn't publicized in any of the local newspapers, and in fact two or three scouts asked this writer if he knew when Shirley had been picked.

One thing is certain. Though Shirley has not signed as this is being written, we predict that he will get a minimum $50,000 deal. The Dodgers like him. He has all the physical attributes, and if he fails as a pitcher, they think he could make it as a hitter.

And will coincidences never cease. The same scout who recommended Steve's father, Ron, as a right hander pitcher to the Dodgers more than 20 years ago, is now trying to sign the son. He is Dick Murray, who as coach of the Sacred Heart in San Francisco in the early and middle '50's established that school's baseball dynasty, supplanting Mission High as the high and mighty of the Bay Area baseball scene.

But there was no hanky-panky here. With baseball's "new" draft system, there was no way Murray could put pressure on young Steve to sign with the same team his father had, although father Ron certainly wasn't opposed to it.

The odds were 24-1 that Shirley would become a Dodger, but now it appears that he has, and everybody's happy.

We'll have a more complete story on Shirley, his father and Dick Murray when Steve actually signs, which is imminent.

AS WE SAID, more local notes. Dave Fernandez, the first San Francisco State runner to gain more than 1000 yards rushing in a single season, last year's Far Western Conference Player of the Year, and a Little All American, has signed a contract with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League.

Not only a football star, Fernandez is a 9.7 sprinter and was nationally ranked in the triple jump.

He gained 1066 yards for the Gator football squad last year, and set seven team records during his collegiate career.

Tolio Solaita, the former Jefferson high baseball whiz, is whizzing along with a .300 plus batting average with Kansas City as a part-time first baseman and designated hitter. And San Francisco State southpaw hurler Nick Gentile is a unanimous choice for the Far Western Conference All-Star team.

IF KANSAS CITY, incidentally, continues to steal bases at its present rate, it will steal over 200 of them this year, which will, of course, be a record.

And if you're interested in attendance figures, read on.

The American League is far behind last year's attendance levels, despite the designated hitter, while the National League is way ahead of last year's attendance levels, despite lack of the designated hitter.

As of now, the A's are suffering the biggest loss of attendance in baseball, while Texas is enjoying the biggest gain in the American League. Milwaukee is the only other team in the AL which is ahead of last year's figures.

Biggest attendance gainer in baseball — easily — is San Diego.

And another surprise. There are eight teams in baseball who are further behind last year's attendance than the Giants, while two are about on a par with the locals.

Probably the most phenomenal pitcher in the game at the present time is Atlanta chucker Buzz Capra, a Met castoff who has thrown three hitters in four of his last five starts, three shutouts in his last four outings, allowed three earned runs in his last 54 innings and has an unbelievable 1.16 ERA, best in the majors, starters or relievers. More amazing, he started the season as a relief pitcher.

6 Jailed In Drug Arrests

Six Daly City youths were arrested on drug charges as they sat in a car allegedly smoking marijuana near Thornton High School Thursday morning, police reported today.

The six youths — all between 15 and 17 years old — were local residents.

The arrests brought to 13 the number of persons arrested in the past two days in the city on various drug charges, as police continued their crackdown on what they believe to be a major narcotics ring operating in the North County, concentrating on high school students.

Acting Police Chief David Hansen said members of the department's saturation patrol — officers John Malin, Fred Holewinski and Tom Barner — spotted the youths allegedly smoking marijuana inside a car and began their investigation.

Day Care Centers For Seniors Sought

By VERN KROGH

A proposal to open four "home-like" senior citizen day centers in South San Francisco, San Mateo, Redwood City and East Palo Alto was presented to the county's Economic Opportunity Commission meeting Thursday night.

Mrs. Selma Bascara, a member of the E.O.C. staff, told the commission, meeting at the Martin Luther King Community Center in San Mateo, that the four locations were selected because of the centralization of senior citizens there, although there is a need for such facilities in Daly City and on the Coastside as well.

The centers, she said, could consolidate a number of services, and the social services department and the Red Cross might assign staff members to them.

Facilities are available at all four locations, Mrs. Bascara reported.

A proposed budget of $50,180 was presented to the commission, of which $40,180 would come from the State Commission on the Aging.

The centers would be open seven days a week and well into the evenings, according to Mrs. Bascara.

According to a report presented to the commission, the 1970 census showed San Mateo County has a population of 65,000 persons over 60-61,85 of whom are living below the poverty level although the county is the second wealthiest in the state.

Commissioner Esther Talavera complained that conditions "are really bad" for the low income aged in people.

Daly City, and a center is badly needed there.

Mrs. Dolores Randall, commission chairman, will appoint a committee to investigate the proposal.

Mrs. Betty Plank, chairman of the E.O.C.'s senior citizens program, complained that the state is constantly changing guidelines for a senior citizen nutritional program, and is adamant on how funds will be used.

The San Mateo County budget for the program is now $254,547, of which $21,577 comes from federal sources.

Meals actually cost around $1, although senior citizens get them for 25 cents.

Mrs. Plank reported that the program has developed into more than strictly a food program, and Mrs. Randall argued that when it comes to such programs, the senior citizens themselves should be decided how money should be spent.

Edward R. Becks, executive director of the Economic Opportunity Commission, complained that California's program "is one of the tightest I have seen." He suggested that since what San Mateo County really needs is a more comprehensive program, local officials should sit down with state officials and discuss the problem.

The commission gave tentative approval to a reorganization of the E.O.C. staff to allow Becks to hire a purchasing officer for all facilities in the county, and an additional "1 1/2" bus driver to provide additional transportation to facilities, doctors and stores for older people.

Becks reported there is a real need for a "resource center" on the Coastside for Spanish-speaking families who have "real" problems. He said that three staff members now working from Pacifica to Pescadero have found that farm workers are in need of help. Many, for instance, are eligible for food stamps, but are unaware they are available.

Mrs. Alison Glickman, director of the county's Head Start Program, urged that school districts not be allowed to take over the program as it functions much better under the E.O.C. Commissioner Ernest Takahashi, chairman of a Head Start committee, recommended that the program be reorganized, with the addition of a training education coordinator.

Becks agreed with Mrs. Glickman that the program should not be placed under the county Department of Education, and quoted Stanley Thomas of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as predicting the program will not survive if placed under school districts.

Mrs. Glickman said while the change has been successful in some counties, she does not feel that the county office of education is "receptive" to taking over the program.

Mrs. Glickman reported that parent participation in the program is generally poor, and urged teachers make greater efforts to get parents involved.

The budget for the program for the coming year is $162,926, compared to $115,875 last year.

THE "ECHOES OF FAITH" Youth Choir of the First United Methodist Church of Torrance, Calif., will present an evening of music featuring the cantata "Joseph and the Amazing Technicolor Dreamcoat," June 26 at 7:30 p.m., at the United Methodist Church of Daly City, 1474 Southgate Ave. This cantata was written by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Tim Rice, composers of "Jesus Christ Superstar." The choir will present other musical selections as well. The choir and instrumental ensemble have had Barbara Gill and Alex Plasschaert as consultants. Ms. Gill choreographed the film version of "The Sound of Music." Plasschaert is the choreographer for the "Bob Hope Show." The production is under the direction of William Reynolds, who administers the nine choirs of the Torrance Church. The public is invited to come and hear this evening of music. There is no admission charge. A free-will offering will be taken to help the group meet their touring expenses.

Story Behind Spiraling Assessments

By BOB HEMINGWAY

"It's the system," County Assessor Jack Estes explains in trying to meet the protests of San Mateo County property owners who have been notified that the assessed valuation of their property is increasing, some residential property by as much as 40 per cent, this year.

Some 40,000 notices of assessed value increases have been sent out this year, and there have been about 3,500 inquiries and complaints by property owners.

By the "system," Estes is not referring to anything nefarious. The "system" is state law under the State Revenue and Tax Code which decrees that assessments shall be determined on the "full cash value" of a piece of property. The law also provides that the assessed value, upon which the property tax rate is based, shall be 25 per cent of the full cash value.

"The appraisers don't determine the value," Estes insists, "the market does, and we interpret it."

It is, perhaps, the interpretation that leads to some of Estes' problems.

However, Estes points out, there are a number of "tools" that assist the assessors in reaching their decisions.

These are computed and kept in large books which note almost every factor of every building in the county. In the matter of single family residences, which affect most of the county's property owners and which show the greatest jump in valuation, there is a concise report on each home, including sales reports, quality class of construction, square feet of living area, total number of rooms, number of bedrooms and bathrooms, architectural attractiveness, whether there is a swimming pool, square feet of a basement, cost of appliances if they are built in, and zoning.

When a home is sold, "and there is an abundance of sales . . . the average length of time a person owns a particular home is five years," . . . that affects the appraised value of similar homes in the neighborhood.

It is particularly hard, Estes admits, on older persons who have lived in their homes for many years, put their children through school and don't intend to sell.

"It's all based on what the property would sell for if it were placed on the market," he says.

The ever-increasing prices for homes, coupled with inflation, make it difficult for the assessor's office to keep up.

"If the market would stabilize for five years we could get caught up on it," the assessor states.

Meanwhile, he is attempting to try and get a reassessment on each piece of residential property.

There are some people who claim this is not being done equitably.

For instance, a number of Hillsborough residents hit with reassessments this year are up in arms. A town meeting has been scheduled for Thursday, June 20, at the Crocker School to discuss the matter and to hear advice from attorneys as to the methods of protest.

Some residents of the community are complaining that residential property in the town was reassessed this year while similar property in Atherton was not.

Referring back to the state law on market value, Estes displays a report from the Multiple Listing Service of the San Mateo-Burlingame Board of Realtors.

During 1973, the report states, there were 22 homes sold in Hillsborough at an average price of $133,210. In the first quarter of 1974, a total of 36 homes were sold at an average price of $141,397.

The report also notes that multiple listing sales in San Mateo, where there was a good deal of residential property reassessment this year, totaled 1,003 at an average price of $44,833 during 1973, while there were 244 sales at an average price of $50,283 in the first quarter of 1974.

His books show, Estes reports, the "trend, what's happening in the market."

For example, one home which sold in September, 1972, for $28,000 was resold in April, 1973, for a price of $34,500.

Estes reports that his office uses three concepts in determining assessed valuations — market data (value from sales); cost approach (replacement cost new, less depreciation); and income capitalization (investment property and the income it produces).

The first category applies to residential sales, based on the sales prices for homes in a given neighborhood.

The second category usually is applied to large industrial properties which rarely sell and are designed to provide services, such as manufacturing plants.

The third category is mostly apartments and commercial property where an attempt is made to determine what owners are willing to accept and what renters are willing to pay.

In his office, Estes has six "teams" which are involved in the assessment process.

There are three residential appraisal teams, one each for the north, central and south county areas; two for commercial-industrial areas and one for apartments, open space and special type land.

One of his most difficult tasks, Estes reports, is the appraisal of vacant land.

"We're watching it all the time," he says. "We can't penalize those easy to appraise for those difficult to appraise."

On the coastside, for instance, there is an active market in relatively small acreages, but the large acreages aren't moving at all.

South of Half Moon Bay, where there are no utilities or sewer services available and where the Coastal Zone Conservation Commission has control of development within 1,000 yards inland from mean high tide, his office has made some adjustments downward in assessed value because of the inability of owners to develop the land until after a development plan is submitted to the State Legislature in 1976.

Estes notes that the State Board of Equalization takes a random sampling each year of some 360 properties in San Mateo County to assure that the county is attempting to equalize the assessment values at 25 per cent of market values.

In the interim, the county's assessments are averaged on the basis of the "trend" in school enrollment, wages of employed persons and sales taxes.

At last year's reading, San Mateo's average was 22.6 per cent.

For the property owner who believes he has been assessed unfairly, there are remedies. Between July 2 and Sept. 15, he may file an appeal with the County Assessment Appeals Board for a hearing.

Applications may be obtained from the county clerk's office in Redwood City.

AN INVITATION FROM FRED KOHLENBERG

"I have in stock right now the largest inventory of new Fords in our history . . . and with hundreds more still on the way . . . I must clear them out. There is no need to wait until September to get an "END-OF-THE-YEAR" buy on a new car. You can do it now in June! Ford Motor Co. has increased prices, but we have not! Look our cars and prices over, and if the model of your choice is not listed in our advertised selection . . . I invite you to come in and choose from ANY one of our 500 new Fords at identical savings!"

Milt Harper Is Known As "Mr. Nite Life"

His name is Milt Harper, but most people know him as "Mister Nite Life." Although he started the Nite Life Dinner Club over 13 years ago, Milt has become a celebrity of sorts in the past two years. This is due to the magnificent moustache that he sports. Started seven years ago, it has now attained a total length of 24 inches. This isn't a record, he concedes reluctantly. The record (Book of Guinness) is held by a man in India who grew one 102 inches long. Milt's picture has appeared in newspapers throughout the world, having been taken by United Press International and Associated Press. Most often he is asked, "How do you sleep at night?" He answers, "Very carefully and on my back." Milt races midget race cars professionally and has to use an open-face helmet as he cannot get his moustache in a closed helmet. Milt also collects antique cars and owns a 1910 Cadillac, a 1901 Stanley Steamer, a 1901 Bucket and a 1948 Lincoln Continental. He started the Nite Life Dinner Club with 21 restaurants and now has over 600 restaurants, theaters, sporting events and family fun places all on a two-for-one basis. As a member in Nite Life you will also receive a certificate which is valid for three days and two nights free lodging in Hawaii. Charter flights and discounts are available to travel abroad and a buyers' discount card allows you to purchase famous brand products and thus save up to 50% below listed retail price.

Nite Life is truly a fantastic offer at only $7.50.

The Licata Way— Best Tradition in the West

Success is generally predicated on hard work and devotion to one's profession, and hard work and devotion are precisely what Vince Licata has thrived on all his life.

As owner and operator of Vince's Seafood-Italian Restaurant (1528 El Camino Real in San Mateo), Vince Licata has won the respect and admiration of Peninsula diners since establishing his business back in the 1940s. Known as "The Fisherman's Wharf of the Peninsula," Vince's offers a plethora of delicious seafood plates as well as outstanding Italian specialties that reflect age-old traditional recipes.

Vince operates the restaurant with the support of his wife Nina and his sons Tony and Louis. Yes, even his daughters, Angela and Rosalind, help out on a regular basis.

Vince and his staff will be closed June 16 through July 7 for their annual vacation, but rest assured that the restaurant will be open and back in full swing shortly after the Fourth of July holiday, offering its recurring patrons all of the fine dishes for which Vince's is so famous.

BRIGHT LIGHTS DEVOTED TO DINING AND VACATION

As readers can see, instead of our regular Bright Lights' pages today, you'll find a special 32-page tabloid entirely devoted to vacation news, Nevada nightlife and the latest happenings in Bay Area restaurants and clubs. This is your Bright Lighter's 15th Annual Vacation Edition, and it's full of pertinent news regarding trips, tourist attractions and fine dining establishments from Canada to the Mexican Border. It's been said that this is the

New dimensions in dance music can be attained by dropping into this swingin' music showcase, said to be by many in Bay Area "where the action is." Under the ownership of Maurice and Burt (they also handle the Woodstock in San Francisco). Abbey Road never charges a cover except on weekends. Dance music is always provided by the finest groups in the business; right now you can enjoy the music of the Power House. Topnotch bands are also showcased on Sunday and Monday nights. The fans are never disappointed when they head for the dance floor of Abbey Road.

The man who made this steak house famous, Alfred Bacchini, retired at the first of the year, putting the business into the hands of Art Petri and his son Al. But in no way has quality suffered. If anything, Alfred's has even higher standards of excellence, with emphasis not only on food but service as well. The Petris are first-rate professionals (Art ran Joe's of Hillsdale for a long while) with a well balanced menu of steaks, Italian specialties of the house and seafood. The Petris also know their wines, for the selections are magnificent. The appeal of the restaurant is to all ages, and parties sometimes call up from halfway around the world to place a reservation well in advance. Which says much for its reputation. Each table is tastefully decorated with fresh flowers each day as well as shining crystal. This is A-one quality all the way down the line. Still on the premises is one of three former partners, Armando Modena, who serves as maitre'd. Ask for him or Art Petri.

As authentic a slice of Greece life as you'll find anywhere in the Bay Area, thanks to the concern of owner-operator Louis Gundunas, who has captured the "food, customs, dances and spirit" of Greek and Middle Eastern customs. Louis remains the focal point of this restaurant-night club with his amazing dance wherein he picks up a dining table with his teeth and proceeds to dance with it. Louis, otherwise known as "the happy Greek," bases everything he does on the authentic thing in his zest for the best. The menu features several lamb specialties of the house, such as Lamb Kapama (marinated, braised and sauteed in spice sauce). Always a favorite is the combination plate, which includes every well known Greek dish in history. The Greek Bouzouki Orchestra provides music nightly for both dancing and the shows of owner Gundunas. Open from 5 p.m. daily except Monday. Greek dance lessons Tuesday from 7 to 10 p.m. Saliba the Belly Dancer has to be seen to be believed.

Although this has been a superb rock club these past few years, owner Frank Martinelli has immediate plans to completely renovate the Beach House and turn it into an all-Hawaiian night club. This is in keeping with his Hawaiian theme in the adjacent Tiki Garden Restaurant. Frank has many plans for this new house of hula and other forms of music and dancing of the picturesque Hawaiian Islands. Watch these pages for up-to-the-minute reports as Frank makes the important transition.

BEN JONSON

Lo, though he has been dead these 333 years, Elizabethan poet Ben Jonson lives on in the form of this unique restaurant near Fisherman's Wharf which has successfully captured the flavor of its namesake. Patterned after an Elizabethan theater, the upstairs dining area abounds with relics of the past and bountiful waitresses in low-cut uniforms who address themselves as "your wenches of the evening." A handsome menu, with a cover duplicated from a 1616 edition of Jonson's literary endeavors, proclaims "the golden age restored." Dinners come in five acts: fore-dishes, pottage, the cellars, main course and cakes, kick-shaws and other trifles. While those main courses are limited, they are outstanding: prime ribs of beef served with creamed spinach and Yorkshire pudding (there are three different sized cuts to suit your appetite); English Meadow Hen and Beef Chop for Two. Desserts are, without fail, mouth watering: cheese board with port, lemon mousse, sherry trifle and cheesecake with brandy. The whole effect conjures up the feeling that Jonson and his rowdy, fun-loving companions might be in the next room toasting buxom ladies. It's all very enchanting.

image to its customers. The Willow Room (formerly the Greenwillow Room) now has colonial house wallpaper and booths and is a cheery setting for breakfast, lunch or dinner, 6 a.m. to 8:45 p.m. Club Seville, the famous bar, has been done over in a scallop motif, making the atmosphere suitably intriguing for cocktails. Master chef Tom Delano and his wife Doris, the hostess, offer a menu of Roast Prime Ribs of Beef au jus, Breaded Veal Cutlet with country gravy and Veal Scalloppini with fresh mushrooms, among others. Delano is famed for his home-made desserts, which include pudding, cobbler, strawberry shortcake and Vienna cheesecake. Owners of the Ben Franklin are Erwin and Max Best, who have managed this historic spot for the past 27 years without interruption. Mario's specialties include the chicken with mushrooms, the mushroom and artichoke, and the white meat. Mario's specialties are available for 250 persons. The world of constant change are now considered to be the best in the world. The Bertolucci's, however, are open Monday through Saturday, and the d'oeuvres are available Monday through Saturday.

John Graziano and Vic Scafani, who also own and operate Woodlake Joe's of San Mateo, are the restaurateurs who have made this into one of the truly elegant dining houses on the Peninsula. The modified menu now features dinners that range in price from $4.25 to $5.50 with Italian dishes, seafood and steaks available. A la carte items are numerous. The house specialties still remain, after all these years, roast prime rib of beef. Excellent facilities are available for special parties, wedding receptions and banquets for as many as 300 persons. The Lodge's spacious lounge is now a famous gathering place for business executives. Incidentally, the menu now features nine different desserts, from cheesecake to Tuaca Parfait.

"Nobody makes cannelloni like Mama," is a phrase you'll often hear at this traditionally popular Italian restaurant operated by Mama Bertolucci, her son Larry and daughter Lola. That cannelloni is light as a feather smothered in a rich sauce that is half red, half-white. Mama's other specialties include Tournedo Rossini, which is filet of beef with pate de foie gras (chicken livers), button mushrooms and Sauce Diablo. Freshness is the rule of thumb here, with Mama personally traveling to Sonoma for fresh mushrooms and to Half Moon Bay for succulent artichoke. Banquet facilities are available for as many as 250 persons. People from the world of show business are constantly dropping in, as are royalty of sundry nations. Sunday is still considered family day at Bertolucci's, so bring the children too. Open for luncheons Monday through Friday; open for dinners Tuesday through Sunday. Hors d'oeuvres served from 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

CHUCK'S STEAK HOUSE
160 Bovet Road
San Mateo
349-1015

While part of Chuck Rolles' restaurant chain, this steak house is under the private ownership of Canning Stevens and Larry Hancock (which means they have complete say in the purchase of meat, liquor and seafood). The menu, although small enough to go on the surface of a Lancer's wine bottle, is a mighty one, with steaks being the specialty: New York, Sirloin, Beef Kabob, Teriyaki Sirloin.

The steak and lobster combination is a popular dish here. Brochettes of Beef and Chicken or Teriyaki Chicken Breasts are among the "Nightly Specials." Prime Rib is the most recent addition to the menu. Chuck's is also popular for its serve-yourself saladbar. On the weekends, there's always some topnotch talent in the lounge. Dinner hours are 6 to 10 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays; 6 to 11:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 5:30 p.m. to 10 p.m. Sundays. The Happy Hour is offered Monday, Thursday and Friday from 4:30 to 6 p.m. when cocktails go for 50 cents.

Owner Nick Gust (one-time Mayor of Pacifica) has named this seafood restaurant (downstairs from his Moonraker) after his father, who originally established the Gust enterprises on a picturesque stretch of beach on the Coastsides south of San Francisco. Ninety per cent of the items are from the sea, and a nautical theme prevails even in the decor, which consists of fish tanks and old blocks and tackles. The view of the Pacific is magnificent, giving this din-

CHICKEN UNLIMITED
Ninth Avenue and South B Street
San Mateo
347-1297

Like most "drop-in" chicken businesses, Chicken Unlimited offers a quick order service, but unlike most rival businesses, you have the choice here of the part of chicken: breast, leg, thigh, neck, etc. Of course, the more chicken you buy ("buy it by the bucket," is the standard motto) the better the price. Where Chicken Unlimited deviates heavily from the norm is in its "parties unlimited" policy.

This means that you can order from Chicken Unlimited for picnics, outings, office parties, clubs, schools and churches for large groups. The number of persons doesn't matter — ten, fifty, one hundred or a thousand (and more) can be accommodated, outdoors or indoors. Each dinner consists of three pieces of golden crisp chicken, cole slaw, potato and bean salad, a dinner roll and honey. Chicken Unlimited will also take care of the plates, forks, salt, napkins and moist towelettes. All this for as little as $1.25 per person. Just call today to make arrangements for your next party.

777 El Camino
San Carlos

Jimmy Chen came from the East Coast at the start of the year to introduce a form of Chinese cooking that few on the West Coast had ever heard of, let alone eaten. Called Szechuan, this school of cooking originated on an island province in Southwest China known for its rich soil and long growing season, and is distinguished from other Chinese cuisines by its spiciness and varying degrees of "hotness." Jimmy got his start at the Lotus Royal Garden in New Jersey and made Szechuan a by-word at the Peking House on Second Avenue in New York City. Now he is making it a byword on the Peninsula.

The best way to order Szechuan cuisine is for large parties, with the order being placed well in advance so Jimmy and his chef, Chungsien Chou, can do the dishes justice. Lobster in Chile Sauce (plump cubes of shelled lobster with brandy and spices, dry-braised with tomato catsup) is a true delicacy as is the Peking Duck dipped in a special Hai Hsien sauce. The duck is pre-marinated in honey and barbecued to a golden brown. Chen's is unique — something every gourmet should try.

Hillsdale Farmers Market Offers 10 Restaurant Selections

Hillsdale's Farmers Market, which has been famous on the Peninsula for many years, is a place where fine family dining can be enjoyed at reasonable prices.

Here, 10 different international restaurants can be found under a single roof, with diners being offered hundreds of menu items. Every Sunday each of the international restaurants features a Sunday Special for only $1.35. This special, a major attraction for budget-conscious families, is available every Sunday from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

As far as your palate is concerned, the 10 dining establishments covers the entire spectrum, with the major decision being simply what type of food you wish. At the Bar-B-Q you will find old-fashioned western barbecued dinners including spareribs, chicken and other typically western-style menu items. Hot barbecue sandwiches, hamburgers, various desserts and beverages are also on the menu.

Italian delights such as Spaghetti, Lasagne, Veal Cutlet Parmigiana and Veal Scallopini are what you can expect to find at San Remo Italiano. Eight different kinds of pizza, as well, are offered. Sandwich selections are numerous, and be sure to try the special "Hero," prepared with ham, provolone, salami, coppa and mortadella.

Tempting sweets including numerous rolls and twists, and an array of donuts can be found at Hunt's Quality Donuts. This spot is a widely favored retreat for shoppers and many of the sales people who work in the nearby shops.

A Super Shopper Special is always available from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily at Ling Wong Chinese. Dinners always include a selection of any four items, with the menu listing such dishes as sweet and sour pork, chicken almond, chow mein, and fried won ton, egg roll, vegetable beef, egg foo yung, etc.

Breakfast any hour of the day, along with a complete fountain service, can be found at the Coffee Shop and Fountain. Omelettes, pancakes, waffles, and French toast are all on the menu. Eggs, sausage, ham, beef patties and bacon and other typical breakfast items are always available. Sandwiches and hamburgers, as well as a complete range of fountain-type items.

Tasty Mexican dishes have been an attraction for years at Castillo's Mexican Kitchen, located near the center of the complex. Menu enticements include beef and cheese enchiladas, tacos, tostados, chile rellenos, fried beans, Spanish rice, Mexican-style macaroni and chile con carne. Salad selections include Mexican tossed green and a delightful Guacamole.

Six different combination plates are offered.

Seafood dinners, including fried clams, prawns, fish fillet and ocean perch as well as other seasonal items are the offerings at the Sea 'n' Salad. Salads have always been a major attraction here, and diners seem to particularly praise the Shrimp and Crab Louis.

Eight different types of wieners can be found at the Wiener House and Beverage Bar. Among the favored menu items are Bratwurst, Knockwurst and Polish Sausage on a rye roll. For just $1.19 a special wiener plate is served that includes two wieners, a side dish and a butter roll. A wide assortment of beverages and soft drinks.

Customers at the Tasty Morsel Hof Brau choose from among such menu items as roast beef, baked Virginia ham, roast turkey and corned beef. Other fare offered by Manager Bob Pace consists of many side dishes along with a generous selection of hand-carved sandwiches.

The Steak Inn is a family-type establishment where quality steak dinners can be enjoyed for as little as $2.19, which happens to be the price for the Steak Teriyaki. Other selections include Rib Eye, Top Sirloin and New York. All steak platters come complete with potato and roll.

CARNELIAN ROOM
Bank of America Center
San Francisco
433-7500

It's 52 stories in the sky and it only takes 35 seconds to reach via the elevators. Once there, you have a 360-degree panoramic view of San Francisco, the Bay, the Pacific Ocean and all of the city's famous landmarks. The Carnelian Room, named for the color of the building's granite exterior, is a "restaurant by Davre," which means it is a perfect dining place for intimate dinners or large-scale banquets. Wood-paneled and richly carpeted, the room is everything a romanticist would imagine it to be. A Louis 14th-style wine cellar contains 15,000 bottles of fine wines and champagnes. Open daily from 3 p.m. Closed Sunday. Free parking with dinner; private rooms for 2 to 250 persons.

CONCERTO MUSIC AGENCY
56 West 41st Avenue
San Mateo
341-2954

Who is jovial, fast-talking, fast-acting, fast-stepping, back-slapping, and a story-telling reconteur? Only one man can fit that description: the irrepressible Al King, who operates this talent agency which has booked more musical groups throughout the Bay Area than any other single agency. What makes Al King so important to know (if you consider yourself part of the show business world) is that Al has contacts they don't even know about in Hollywood. Even if you're not in the market for talent, drop into Al's office to hear him spin some great stories about the good old days.

CRAB COTTAGE
Capistrano Road
Princeton-by-the-Sea
728-9989

Leah Smith was a waitress at this historic seafood restaurant on the Coastside until last October, then she decided to buy the business from Tom Monahan. Since the change in ownership Leah has maintained the old traditions. A one-time biology student at San Francisco State, Leah is now offering two dinners for less than $10 — just one of many remarkable features of the Crab Cottage. Tom Monahan, meanwhile, is not entirely out of the scene, for he still provides Leah with the fresh abalone for which the eating house is famous. The breakfast menu should be stressed, for it is a superb compendium of everything you could desire — from minced ham and scrambled eggs with toast to omelettes of unusual combinations.

DIAMOND LIL'S
2750 El Camino Real
San Mateo, 341-5441

Toni De Sanders is that rare find — a lovely young woman who knows how to operate a restaurant with elegance and class. But then, Toni has always been doing unusual things (like being the first woman ever to manage an A & W Root Beer Parlour) with her personal flair. Diamond Lil's is an unpretentious dinnerhouse that has been designed to reflect the turn of the century: red carpeting, flocked wallpaper, ornate chandeliers and gaslight fixtures. Giving it all just the right touch of finality is the rinky-tink piano music. Nothing extravagant about the kinds of dishes you can order — just good quality and friendly service. Steaks include an eight-ounce sirloin ("juiciest in the West") called Lil's Favorite; a five-ounce ribeye known as the School Marm's Choice, and the 12-ounce T-bone known as the 1890's Special. Other items: Ribs a la Lil, barbecue style, Butterfly Shrimp, desserts and ales and spirits. Toni is now offering half-price luncheon specials. Spe-

DOWN UNDER
618 Taylor Street
San Francisco, 771-4378

Every once in a while someone will drop in and ask for Kangaroo Stew or Bushman Berries a la Mode, only to learn that there is nothing (except for the name and decor) Australian about this restaurant. That doesn't mean, though, that owner-manager Don Somerville isn't jumping like a kangaroo to service all the folks who come after those great American dishes known as steaks, chops and lamb. Being centrally located in San Francisco makes the Down Under a convenient gathering spot for executives, lovers and friends. All dinners are served with salad (which you prepare yourself from a vast array of selections at the salad bar), French bread, potato and vegetable du jour. Because this was once a basement storage area, it is charmingly broken up into many tiny nooks and crannies, affording privacy to many diners.

THE FISHERMAN
1492 Old Bayshore Highway
Burlingame, 697-1490

One of the largest menus we have ever seen makes this seafood restaurant an unforgettable experience. The Fisherman is a once-in-a-lifetime experience with its picturesquely view of the bay and wide choice of specialties. Richard Patane makes things function in the main dining room, while his father, Salvatore Patane, makes things happen in the kitchen. Salvatore has more than 40 years of experience in the restaurant business and this skill is reflected through such delicacies as sauteed Calamari ala Bella Maniera, savory Sea Bass ala via Reggio, and Seafood Cannelloni. However, Salvatore has extended his expertise into another area he knows well — the art of Italian cooking, as witness Saltimbocca or Veal Parmigiana. The dining terraces offer sweeping views of passing vessels and airport landings, all framed by huge picture windows. Dancing and entertainment Tuesday through Saturday. Lunch and dinner served continuously from 11:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Banquets up to 200 can be handled in the upstairs Santa Maria Room.

510 Broadway
San Francisco, 982-9388

Joe Finocchio remains the champion night life king of San Francisco, for his "establishment for female impersonators" remains the highpoint of North Beach night life activity. For at least 40 years the club has offered the best in the field, and people have literally come from all over the world to witness this unique phenomenon of men in women's clothing. "Spotlight on Show Business" is the current revue with an all-star line-up of the best in the business. "My fellas," says the effervescent Finocchio, "always conduct themselves in a ladylike manner."

For the past year this steakhouse has been under the management of the Walda Corporation, and changes have been extensive in menu and personnel. General manager John Hutchinson has worked close with chefs Ed Robinson and Don Mosech to see that the specialties are kept at maximum quality. Those specialties include Top Sirloin, New York Pepper Steak and Tenderloin of Beef en Brochette with rice pilaf. Veal Cordon Bleu is a big favorite here, stuffed with prosciutto and cheese and cooked to a golden brown. Scallopini Marsalla, Veal Oskar, Saltimbocca, Veal Parmigiana, Cannelloni and Breast of Capon help to make up a special appendage to the main menu. Banquet facilities are available for as many as 100 persons. Open for lunches Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Special half-price dinners are now offered Sundays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 4 to 9:30 p.m. when a special Fork 'n Cork coupon (see add in this section) is presented to the waitress.

A splendid view of the Bay and San Francisco skyline from the second level. Open weekdays from 11 a.m. for lunches and dinners. Open Saturday and Sunday as well.

GARDEN CAFE
1447 Burlingame Avenue
Burlingame, 343-8461

Operated by the San Mateo-Burlingame Auxiliary to Children's Hospital at Stanford, this pleasurable dining spot has initiated a new coffee and Danish hour for shoppers and local business people 9 to 11 a.m. The private upstairs area will also be available for reservation during these hours for groups to hold meetings (coffee and sweet rolls included). In addition to hot and cold hors d'oeuvres, box lunches are now available from $1.50. Reservations can be made Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Auxiliary continues to present its fine luncheon menu Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m., as well as its Tuesday luncheon fashion show.

GARZA'S
2310 S. El Camino Real
San Mateo, 574-9000

With large corporations and chains entering the restaurant field, the personal touch is sometimes lost. It is therefore refreshing to find a friendly, personable man like Manuel Garza, who often cooks special dishes to order and is always available for a friendly chat. All the traditional Mexican dishes can be savored here, from enchiladas to tostados to tacos to chili rellenos to huevos rancheros. But Garza has his own personal recipes which turns the most ordinary dish into something unique. Open Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.; on Saturday and Sunday from 4:45 to 9:30 p.m.

GOLD SPIKE
527 Columbus Avenue
San Francisco, 986-9747

Family style home cooking is an art that has almost been lost in this age of "instant everything," but this is certainly not the case here. For sure, the owners of the Gold Spike have managed to keep alive a tradition of fine home cooking. Since the year 1920, this spot has been a haven for thousands of appreciative patrons who have feasted on this restaurant's Italian dinners, served family style. Cocktails, also. This restaurant is open for business every day of the week, except Wednesday.

HILTON INN
San Francisco International Airport
588-4770

The staff at this fabulous inn is really bustling these summer months with parties and celebrations of every kind imaginable: conferences, weddings, receptions, birthday parties, Bar Mitzvahs. Whether it's a party of six, 60 or 600, the Holiday management can handle it. Our favorite dining spot here is the French Corner Restaurant, certainly one of the most elegant we have encountered in our culinary experiences. It has been diabolically designed to please the demands of the most hard-to-please gourmet. Every facet of European food preparation, service and decor has been carefully re-enacted in this unforgettable room. Including candlelight for dining. What more could you ask for? And there's entertainment: Maurice Anger's Trio performs Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the French Corner, with Maurice at the keyboard, John Derning on bass and Dick Kautch on saxophone and clarinet.

HOTEL ST. FRANCIS
335 Powell Street
San Francisco
367-7000

Hailed "A City Within a City," justifiably so, this landmark San Francisco hotel has everything imaginable. Freddie Washington, for instance, continues to delight patrons in the Piccadilly Bar with his piano stylings Tuesday through Saturday from 9 p.m. with no cover, no minimum. The Penthouse on the 32nd floor offers luncheons in the afternoon, then is converted into a dance floor during the evenings, with the best bands in town providing the music. On that same floor, only next door, is the delight of all gourmets, Hugo's Room, where continental dining is served with a breathtaking view of San Francisco. Frank Denke plays all your continental favorites in the Terrace Room Monday through Saturday from 5 p.m. Complimentary hors d'oeuvres. Of course, the St. Francis features several banquet rooms for special parties and occasions. The Dutch Kitchen continues to serve some excellent breakfasts, luncheons and dinners as you'll find anywhere.

The decor of this gourmet dining room has been kept "low key" by its designers so as not to detract from the spectacular views of San Francisco its 36th-floor view offers. Colors are in deep tones of indigo blue and wine, and there is a wall of fabric awnings which form freestanding booths. Seating is limited and private. Specialties of the house include quiche lorraine, pates, aspics, souffles and prime steaks. Sunday Brunch served 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Adjoining One Up Lounge is a superb place to sip cocktails, eat hors d'oeuvres and watch the city turn golden in the sunset. This remarkable

Bay Meadows Is Tradition

Bay Meadows, which is by far the busiest race track in the Western half of the United States, is snuggled between teeming Highway 101 and historic El Camino Real in the heart of San Mateo.

Opened in 1934, this bustling palace to the sport of kings has joined with the San Francisco International Airport to become San Mateo County's two major landmarks.

With 200 days or nights of racing each year, Bay Meadows presents something for all seasons and all segments of the equine industry, which has become so important to the economy of the State of California and the City of San Mateo. It has harness racing in the winter, quarter horses in the spring, the San Mateo County Fair in the summer and thoroughbreds in the fall.

GUNDERSON

During the annual two week fair meeting, there is a race each day for the colorful appaloosas, thereby giving the Meadows competition from all the types of horses Californians can wager on under pari-mutuel conditions.

When the horses are away, the golfers play, with a nine-hole golf course and driving range in the spacious infield open to the public on every non-racing day.

NIGHT RACING

Bay Meadows is the only race track in the immediate Bay Area equipped with lights and portions of the harness and quarter horse meetings are conducted at night. The quarter horse season has Northern California's two richest horse races in the $160,000 Golden State Derby and the $130,000 Bay Meadows Futurity.

THOROUGHBRED RACING

Each fall there are some 15 to 16 weeks of thoroughbred racing at the popular Peninsula plant, with the first part of the meeting being conducted by Tanforan, which closed its track in San Bruno following the 1963 season, and the major portion by the California Jockey Club. The top horses and jockeys in the sport take part in the lengthy session, with the $100,000 added California Juvenile Stakes, the third jewel in Western racing's Triple Crown for two year olds, the main attraction.

CITY WITHIN A CITY

When the races are on, the Bay Meadows barn area, which accommodates 1,500 horses, also becomes the temporary home for some 1,000 men and women devoted to their training and care. With its own police and fire department, restaurants, shops, etc., the interesting "backstretch" is truly a city within a city. During the thoroughbred season, tours of the barn area, along with a morning workout program, including entertaining racing films, are conducted each Saturday morning.

GRANDSTAND

On the so-called front side is the sprawling grandstand, which is divided into three parts. In each of the three-grandstand, turf club and clubhouse areas — there are comfortable restaurants and cocktail lounges.

Marine World A Big Success

Marine World, on the edge of San Francisco Bay, in Redwood City, California, first opened its gates to the public in July of 1968.

Financed by the American Broadcasting Company for more than six million dollars, the family-oriented park was an immediate success.

The facility itself was unlike any other oceanarium in existence, planned to be a center of education, research and entertainment. Occupying 54 acres were 12 buildings on four islands and four keys, separated by bridges and waterways large enough for tour boats. Original construction included a 4,000 seat marine stadium fronting on a huge lagoon with an outlet to San Francisco Bay and the open sea; a 2,000-seat whale, seal and dolphin theatre, filled by a million gallons of water; a seven-tank sea life display; an ichthyarium, and 450 seat wharf restaurant.

In late 1971 ABC sold the operation to Resorts International, Inc. which brought its Fillmore, California-based Africa U.S.A. to join Marine World.

When the two family attractions were merged the park was closed for a four-month face lift. Buildings were given thatched roofs to resemble African villages and park lands were cleared to serve as special roaming areas for land animals.

Entertainment Galore S. F. Playboy Club

An old favorite and a talented newcomer share the billing at the San Francisco Playboy Club from June 17 through 29, when fast-paced humorist Billy Falbo and pert vocalist Ellerine Harding brighten the Club's Playroom.

Falbo, a regular at Caesar's Palace and other top clubs, is not one of your understated comics. From the moment he steps in front of the mike, his act erupts in a rapid-fire stream of one-liners, far out ad libs, and brilliant pantomime routines. A first-rate mimic, Falbo also bowls them over with startlingly lifelike impressions of old-timers like Jolson, Durante, Eddie Cantor, and Bert Williams.

Manager/co-owner Al Malatesta takes great pride in his work — just watch him prepare one of his Gourmet Salads sometime and see what we mean. Superb continental dining is the only result when someone like Al works so hard at his profession. Dinners come complete with soup or paste de jour and a tossed salad with special dressing. Specialties include Chicken Saute Sec with mushrooms; Chicken Cacciatora; Chicken Jerusalem; Veal Cutlet Parmigiana; Veal Scaloppine Marsala; Veal Scaloppine Bolognese; Abalone Dorato; Filet Mignon Bearnaise; Grenadine of Beef with mushroom sauce; Chicken Saute Lasagne; Saltimbocca alla Romana; Rack of Lamb Sardalaise; Chateaubriand Bouquetiere. Luncheon, dinner, banquet facilities. Rich and Gina provide the entertainment Wednesdays through Sundays in the atmospheric lounge area.

IRON HORSE
19 Maiden Lane
San Francisco

Owner Sam Marconi opened this restaurant in the early 1950's and over the years he has built it up into a business that (1) caters to the gourmets of San Francisco and (2) caters to the Financial District crowds who make this their rendezvous spot after office hours. The intimate, relaxing atmosphere has been successful on both counts. Luncheons and dinners are served daily from 11:30 a.m. to midnight (except Sundays). Menu items: Broiled Lobster Tail in drawn butter; Cordon Bleau, Steak and Lobster, Filet of Veal Picata. All dinners come complete with special Iron Horse garlic bread, soup of the day (or onion soup) and a special tossed salad. A large a la carte section has such general categories as appetizers, salads, broiled foods, seafood, sandwiches, vegetables, potatoes, beverages, cheeses and desserts.

Toshio Kiyohara and his wife Toshi specialize in authentic Japanese cuisine served by kimono-clad waitresses to customers in partitioned cubicles (called Tatami rooms) with sliding doors. It's the Teahouse of the August Moon all over again, meaning you can even take your shoes off to sit cross-legged. Toshio offers dinners which combine various ingredients. Tempura is prawns and vegetables deep fried. Beef Teriyaki is prime ribs of beef broiled in teriyaki sauce, and the Beef Butter-Yaki Dinner consists of sliced tender beef and vegetables. Just ask Toshio or Toshi and they will recommend the proper combination for your personal tastes. Dinners are served seven days a week from 5 to 10 p.m. Luncheons are offered Tuesdays through Fridays from noon to 2 p.m.

businessmen during the luncheon hours and to gourmets during the evening hours. Joe, who used to run Oreste's, one of our old favorites, is always on the premises, acting as host and waiter. The limited seating is what makes this place truly intimate. Open Monday through Friday for lunch and dinner, for dinners only on Saturday nights. Cannelloni was always a favorite at Oreste's, and that holds true here. The same goes for Joe's superb Fettuccini. Other favorites: Prime Rib, Scampi Alla Veneziana, Veal Parmigiana (smothered in a savory Napolitana sauce that only Joe knows the ingredients of). All dinners come with antipasto Italiano, prosciutto con melon (or mixed green salad) canelloni della casa and main course.

With this elegant French restaurant in the heart of the downtown San Mateo area, owners Fernand and Norbert Wagner and Rene Chagniot have truly brought haute cuisine to the Peninsula. This restaurant's justly earned reputation for superb cuisine rests with the kitchen artistry of Fernand, who dates his family's restaurant background back to the year 1781 in Strasbourg, France. Documents attesting to this fact can be found on the walls near the restaurant's entrance. A wide range of hors d'oeuvres, soups, salads, entrees and desserts can be found on La Cigogne's extensive menu, with dinners served both complete and a la carte. Lunches are served daily, Monday thru Friday. Needless to say, this restaurant manages to also stock appropriate wines to match the culinary delights. Norbert Wagner, Fernand's brother, can usually be found performing the mixologist's duties in the comfortable lounge. Rene is the gracious maître d'.

An unforgettable Emerson Murfee restaurant thanks to its imaginative use of a Polynesian theme which includes exotic orchid plants, a colorful waterfall and wafting Hawaiian music — all within a tropic-like setting. And don't forget those "exotic" rum drunks: The Blonde Witch, the Mai Tai, the Side Winder's Bang, etc. The menu features authentic foods of the Indies, the Orient and Hawaii. Open for dinners daily from 5 p.m. Murfee also owns the Villa Chartier, which is located just next door (see alphabetical listing in this vacation guide).

One of the greatest of French restaurants, owned and operated by George Bollag and Louis A. Frutschi (the former handles matters in the kitchen, the latter serves as host-maitre'd.) The true meaning of continental dining is defined here, as an examination of its cuisine will show. Scampi Bordelaise, Pate Maison in Aspic, Supreme of Capon Sandeman, Medallion of Veal de Patron, Tournedos au Morilles, Frog's Legs Meuniere, Curried Scampi Coloniale, Steak Diane. All prepared by the Bollag-Frutschi team with exquisite care. (As are the Rex Sole Meuniere and Roast Duckling Flambe with Cherries Montmorency.) This bistro is made all that more personal by the touches of owner Demitrios Fanopoulos, who literally waits on the tables, constantly making suggestions. French wallpaper, oil paintings, red tablecloths, vases of carnations add to the quaintness of it all.

Specialties: Poulet de Grain en Casserole (Cornish hen in burgundy wine sauce); Eslalopes de Veau au Citron et Capres (veal saute in capers a la sauce); Crevettes Bombay (prawns saute in creamy chutney). Luncheons Tuesday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Dinners Tuesday through Sundays from 5 to 11 p.m. Demitrios has expanded and now has facilities for large banquets.

Many Mexican-style restaurants claim to be authentic. La Pinata, however, lives up to its claim of "authentic setting." In the style of a cantina, La Pinata is made up of several booths offering privacy. But that's not all. The food here is as served with a special antipasto, a tossed green salad authentic as a Mexican and minestrone (or soup du jumping bean in a heatwave).

While the dishes will all sound familiar (chili rellenos, tacos, enchiladas, tostadas, huevos rancheros, tamales, rice and beans) the recipes are definitely south of the border.

We don't know if this restaurant specializes in Outer or Inner — Mongolian cooking, that is. But we do know that the clientele here is a fanatical one, returning time and again to partake in a most unusual dining experience. For this is (so the legend purports) to be the only Bar-B-Q and Fire Pot cuisine in Chinatown. You can have the added experience of cooking it at your own table, and that includes beef, pork, chicken and lamb. Incidentally, Melanie Wong also owns and operates the Tien Tsin Restaurant at 304 Castro street in Mountain View (968-2672). This restaurant specializes in authentic Peking cuisine (otherwise known as Northern Chinese Mandarin) and features Peking Duck, Mo Shu Pork, Mandarin Beef and Sweet & Sour Fish. Specializes in banquets up to 80 persons. Open daily and Holidays, but closed Tuesdays.

Crepes and fondue are the offbeat specialties here, and both are served during lunch and dinner at this "house of the unusual" in Redwood City. First the dinners: the crepes are served with tossed salad, spinach-swiss souffle, mini loaf with whipped butter and include Beef Burgundy, Chicken, Shrimp and Cannelloni. The Fondue (for two) is served with salad, sour dough cubes or mini loaf. You have your choice of Swiss, Cheddar, Beef or Prawn. Lunches are served Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Dinners Tuesday through Thursday from 5 to 9 p.m. There are also sandwiches, including one called the Standover (ham, cheese, Galintina salami, provolone, mortadella, piled so high you have to "standover" your plate).

The Moonraker, although only seven years old, has already established a reputation for being one of the most picturesque restaurants in the Bay Area, and patrons drive from all over Northern California to try out this Nick Gust enterprise. While the cuisine is described as continental, a heavy emphasis is also placed on seafood dishes. Many believe, in fact, that the abalone served here is among the finest anywhere. The Australian Lobster Tail and the shrimp and crabmeat combination are just as popular among the steady clientele. The Moonraker, which is situated upstairs from Captain Charles and across the street from Nick's, is open for dinners Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 4 p.m. to midnight and on Friday and Saturday from 4 p.m. to 2 a.m. Open Sundays from 3 to midnight. A mecca for gourmets and food connoisseurs the world over, for its owner is the colorful George M. Mardikian, who is not only an internationally renowned restaurateur but an accomplished writer as well. His works include "Son of America" and "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's." Mardikian has been credited for giving new words to the English vocabulary: Lavash (Armenian bread), Rose Petal Preserves, Shish Kebab, Pilaf, Kouzou Kzartma (shank of baby lamb baked with tomatoes) and Dolma (rice and chopped vegetables wrapped and cooked in tender grape leaves). Over the years Mardikian, an inexhaustible lecturer and world traveler, has been entertained by royalty of scores of nations and in turn has wined and dined movie stars, sports figures, politicians and other celebrities from the world over. His dining room is considered one of the most beautiful in the world with its Philippine mahogany walls covered with original paintings by great artists depicting scenes from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. Not open Sunday.

THE OMELETTE HOUSE
514 Peninsula Avenue
348-9883

You might think an egg is an egg and an omelette is an omelette, but owner Dennis Woodman and Clifford Replogue have their own ideas about such a generalization. To them an egg is something you work with to create something unique and different — as witness any one of their omelettes: Spanish, Herb, Cheese, Crab, Asparagus, Italian Sausage, Smoked Salmon, Fresh Chicken Liver. Then there is the now-famous U-Do-It, where you have your choice of any combination of ingredients on the menu. Each omelette, by the way, comes with banana nut bread, orange slices, dates and fresh bread. That's-a-Nice Combination is a plate of cheese slices, fruit balls and Trenton oyster crackers. Take-out service, as well.

PLACE PIGALLE
3721 Buchanan Street
San Francisco
931-5644

Owners Maurice Stergios and Hans Behringer are to be commended for showcasing an outstanding French cuisine. That cuisine is intended for gourmets who know good fresh Frog Legs Provencal when they taste it. In the tradition of Continental cooking, many of the dishes are flambed right at your table. The decor captures the flavor of the Montmartre section of Paris that is famed for its Place Pigalle Square. Other specialties: Coquille St. Jacques, Honeycomb Tripe a la Mode de Caen; Boned Squab Stuffed with Wild Rice and the famed Chateau-briand Bouquetiere for two. Small and large banquet rooms are available for your entertaining. Stergios has owned and operated this restaurant since 1953, so you know you're in capable hands. Co-owner Behringer is a distant cousin of the famous wine family in Germany and he can suggest some excellent wines to augment your cuisine dining.

PIZZA HUT

A Welcome Addition to the Peninsula

San Bruno's multi-million dollar Tanforan Park Shopping Center, located on the premises once occupied by the famed Tanforan Race Track, has brought to the Peninsula a unique dining-out complex ideal for shoppers, families or just about everyone interested in good food at moderate prices. The Nine Garden Restaurants, located on the shopping center's lower level, must be seen to be really appreciated. Each of the nine restaurants is distinctively different, and the major problem facing patrons is simply making a menu choice. Under the direct supervision of General Manager Jack G. Kuks, the nine food establishments offer numerous specials, and an array of lunches, dinners and snacks.

At Red Carpet Hot Dog and Pizza, diners have a choice of seven different franks. Deluxe giant hotdogs are available, with prices beginning at just 60 cents. Seven different kinds of pizza are available, also. Plus, the Red Carpet also serves breakfasts. Try the Jumbo Jackies Breakfast: Egg, ham and cheese on a bun. You'll also find other egg items and omelettes.

If your appetite leans toward Chinese food, King Wong Chinese is also on the premises. You'll find complete dinners as well as numerous ala carte items. Dinners range from a moderate $4.40 for two to $11 for five persons. A special dinner offer every day is any three items for $1.70. Side orders, also, and needless to say, King Wong does an incredible business on food to take out.

If you or a family member prefer hamburgers, that great American favorite, visit the Hamburger Inn. Here the hamburger reigns as "king." 17 different burgers ranging from the Mushroom Burger to burgers prepared Hawaiian-style.

For the weight-conscious, a special low calorie plate is offered. Plus, a combination Salad Plate.

Now if you're a tired shopper needing just a brief respite from browsing through the goodies offered at the numerous shops at Tanforan, Donut World is a perfect haven. There are filled donuts, as well as jelly, frosted, old-fashioned, glazed, and sugar, plus cinnamon rolls and chocolate and maple bars. For beverages, coffee, tea and an assortment of other drinks are available. Donut World also packages donuts to take home.

If your palate has a hankering for the unusual, don't fail to visit Steaks and Chicken Unique, which specializes in steaks, chicken, and delightful salads. Each steak is prepared with a flair; and the menu also offers such Italian delights as spaghetti, ravioli and Veal Parmesan. But it's the steaks that have made this restaurant famous. Be sure and try the "Big John," a 12 ounce Top Sirloin, served with baked potato and garlic bread for just $3.39.

At Hof's Brau you'll find lunches, dinners, side orders, as well as several different sandwiches, salads and beverages. Daily specials range from Macaroni and Cheese to Polish Sausage to Braised Beef Tips.

Adjacent to Hof's Brau is Amigo Mike's Mexican, where the fare runs toward hot and zesty "South of the Border" items. Numerous menu selections (order by number) are available, with prices being moderate. A luncheon special is available daily. A fine choice here is the combination special, which includes Chile Relleeno, taco and a beef enchilada.

Happy Orange is the most recent addition to the Garden Restaurant complex. Owner Ruth Wootton provides soft ice cream, slushes, and orange, pineapple and strawberry beverages. Also a wide variety of cold sandwiches.

Although most of the above restaurants offer dessert, ice cream fans should definitely stop by Swensen's. Over 40 different flavors of ice cream can be found here.

RODEWAY INN
380 South Airport Boulevard
South San Francisco

This skyscraper motel hotel, conveniently located to San Francisco International Airport, is under the management of Erik Pedersen, who reports that patrons are responding well to the new steam baths and water beds that have been installed in the suites and room units. Patrons are also responding well to the Golden Rooster Restaurant, which features steaks and seafood. The Golden Rooster Lounge is now featuring Live, Laugh & Love with Mike O'Day Tuesday through Saturday, and other groups on Sunday and Monday. Lingerie fashion shows are offered every Monday and Friday. Another nice thing about the Golden Rooster Lounge is that drinks are only 60 cents and there are complimentary hors d'oeuvres during the cocktail hour.

ROYAL INN
275 South Airport Avenue
South San Francisco
873-3550

Jerry Greenbach, the owner of the Royal Inn, is the man who created the Back Door Steak House, which offers a wide variety of top grade steaks: New York, Top Sirloin, Petite Filet, Brochette, Steak and Lobster, Alaskan King Crab Legs and Chopped Sirloin. All dinners are served with back door salad bowl, San Francisco flute bread, baked potato and trimmings. The specialty of the Back Door is the T-Bone for $5. Sauteed mushrooms and fresh artichokes can be ordered a la carte. Now appearing in the lounge is pianobar master Laura Lee. The coffee shop at the Royal Inn is open 24 hours a day.

Vince Russo, one of the most unpretentious restaurateurs we know, takes great pride in his San Bruno restaurant, for it marks the culmination of a career in the dining world that has seen the good and the bad, and everything in between. His menu, therefore, is a compendium of choice items — items that have been proven over the years. The Deluxe Dinners are served with a choice of spinach salad or tossed green. Main courses include Eggplant Parmigiana, Steak Teriyaki, Veal Cutlet Parmigiana, Australian Lobster Tail, Filet of Sole Belle Meuniere and Louisiana Prawns Teriyaki. Recently Vince opened his new restaurant, The Eggplant, at 1310 Old Bayshore in Burlingame (348-8808). Many of the Distillery dishes are being repeated, as well as some new ones. The decor is much like the Distillery, with many nooks and crannies enabling many diners to eat in privacy.

Jose Feliciano Now thru June 23, S.F. Venetian Room

Jose Feliciano, singer, musician, composer and lyricist, is currently appearing in the Venetian Room of the San Francisco Fairmont Hotel and Tower.

Feliciano, born blind, was raised in New York's Spanish-Harlem. He gained international fame shortly after his 21st birthday with a song that was to become an international hit and garner two Grammy Awards — as Best New Artist and Best Male Vocalist of the year. That was 1968 and the song was "Light My Fire."

He gave his first public performance before he was 10 years old at El Teatro Puerto Rico in The Bronx, accompanying himself on a $10 guitar purchased by a friend. Soon after, he began to imitate the sounds of Sam Cooke, Ray Charles, Elvis Presley and Frankie Laine, and he performed Michel Legrand's Oscar-winning "Windmills of Your Mind" on the 1968 Academy Awards telecast.

Feliciano's success has provided hope and inspiration for thousands of sightless and handicapped men and women. His stature has grown with each performance — on record or in concert on stages ranging from the Newport Jazz Festival to the London Palladium, the Empire Room of New York's Waldorf-Astoria, to the Greek Theatre in Los Angeles. He has also appeared with the Cleveland and Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestras; on the soundtrack of several motion pictures, television specials and variety shows, his own Spanish-language weekly television series shown in the United States and throughout Latin America, and he performed Michel Legrand's Oscar-winning "Windmills of Your Mind" on the 1968 Academy Awards telecast.

Nothing has had to be restored or substituted at the Thomas Wolfe Memorial in Asheville, N.C. The American Automobile Association says the late author's home — the autobiographical setting for his most celebrated novel, "Look Homeward, Angel" — is complete with original furnishings and decor.

Ponderosa A Must-Visit

Relive the old Western days of "Bonanza," the long-running television series that has entertained millions throughout the world.

Plan to stop over at the Ponderosa Ranch on your next visit into Nevada. The attraction is located at Incine Village, North Shore Lake Tahoe, and features the famous television home of the Ben Cartwright family.

Other attractions at the ranch include the Silver Dollar Saloon and trails for horseback riding. Chuckwagon grub, capturing the true flavor of the old West, is available.

There's Western-style fun for the entire family.

ROYAL COACH
 1770 S. Bayshore Boulevard (accessible via Delaware)
 San Mateo
 573-7661

This San Mateo landmark connotes a fairytale quality with its old English decor and a facade of spirals and other antiquated features of old world castles. The Royal Coach had its share of troubles when it first opened, but general manager Dave Purington has given the motor hotel an about-face and now it's one of the most booming businesses in the area. The Coach and Horses Dining Room offers prime rib as its specialty, and many other outstanding dishes: Poached King Salmon, Filet Oscar, Roast Prime Rib, Baked Stuffed Prawns, Teriyaki Steak, Sussex Chicken, Pepper Steak. Desserts are highlighted by the Hot Old-Fashion Cinnamon Apple Pie with Cheddar Cheese and Strawberry Shortcake with whipped cream. The Maitre d's Flaming Spanish Coffee is the perfect topper to your meal.

Mary Lou Milo is catering manager and says there are exceptional banquet facilities with more than 30 rooms available. The Deacon Brodie Tavern features superb talent, Tuesday through Saturday, presenting the Kurt Alan Trio.

ROMANO'S
 Rockaway Beach
 Pacifica
 359-0528

Enrico Romano, otherwise known as the "Prince of Pizzas," has been offering the best 10-inch pizzas on the Coastside, always loading on the linguica, olives, mushrooms, salami and anchovies with unprecedented generosity. The medium and large-size pizzas are just as liberally prepared by this master of the Italian pie. But Romano also has a dedicated menu of Italian specialties, enabling families to enjoy a full-course dinner here. Open daily from 4 p.m., including Sundays.

SAN FRANCISCO HILTON HOTEL
 333 O'Farrell
 San Francisco
 771-1400

Scraping the sky is this towering San Francisco hotel, operated by Henri Lewin and his brother Werner. The fabulous feature here is the 46-story Tower, topped by Henri's Room at the Top — the room Henri built "on top to top all rooms on the top." It's seldom you'll find gourmet ingredients in a buffet offering, but such is the case here. Fabulous buffet dinners are served nightly from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., with Alex Massey and his Orchestra taking over at 9 p.m. every night to provide music for dancing. The cover charge for all of this is a mere $1.50 plus tax. A luncheon on the buffet table is also offered daily. Sunday Brunch from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

THE SHADOWS
 213 Second Avenue
 San Mateo
 344-5761

A Bavarian-style restaurant under the management of George McCanan (and ownership of Dave Rasmussen) with chef Josef Heudorf in the kitchen preparing all your favorite German dishes: Gebackener Schinken, Rotwein Sauce, Hasenpfeffer at Spatzle, Garniertes Wiener Schnitzel and Kasseler Rippchen. The elegant Banque Room can handle parties from 25 to 250. Catering facilities can handle from 25 to 2500 persons. Luncheons Monday through Friday from 11 a.m., dinners from 5 to 10:30 p.m. Sunday dinners served 4 to 10 p.m.

SHAKEY'S
 1351 Howard (at Primrose)
 Burlingame
 348-8100

This superb pizza house is now under new management and is offering a "Bunch of Lunch" special Monday through Friday, enabling you to eat all you want (and that includes pizza, chicken, salad and potatoes). As usual, the menu includes a great selection of small, medium and large pizzas, heaped with all your favorite ingredients. Also sold: chick 'n chips, sandwiches, salads, ice cold beer and soft drinks. Mary Bates provides pipe organ music Friday and Saturday evenings. The parlour is open daily from 11 a.m. to midnight, Sundays from 11:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.

SCOTTY CAMPBELL'S
 2907 El Camino Real
 Redwood City
 369-3773

"An elegant restaurant for elegant people," is how Helen Trainor once described her Redwood City restaurant, and certainly she and her daughters, Mary Lou Fox and Theresa Urban, and her son Richard live up to that description day to day. The entrees include Prime Rib and the Gourmet Platter for Two, which is a curious selection of sliced sirloin, barbecued ribs, chicken and scampi, all served lazy Susan-style. The Mahi Mahi smothered in almonds is another favorite. Our favorite dessert is the Maerd Eip, a special cheese concoction. Open seven nights a week for dinners from 5 p.m. Cocktail hour starts at 4:30 p.m.

SNEAKY PETE'S
 1425 Burlingame Avenue
 Burlingame
 343-7170

Formerly known as Whiskey Hill, this nitery is owned and operated by Pete Brallier, who keeps it swinging as one of the action spots on the Peninsula. All the bands are booked by Brallier, who is the mastermind behind the Bay Area's Round Table Pizza Parlors. He sees to it that only the best groups are brought in to satisfy his steady clientele. These well known groups include Sahara and George 'n Teddy. This week Steve Long and the Freedom Train will be appearing. The club was recently remodeled inside and out and is something to behold.

SHIRT TAIL
 2515 El Camino Real
 Palo Alto
 321-0310

This is part of the Adrian Stickney enterprise and is the gourmet restaurant in the Bay Area chain. Named after the old Shirt Tail mine, a once-rich bonanza that was talked about throughout the West, the dining establishment specializes in Veal Scallopini Pizzuoli (veal sauteed in wine), mushrooms, green peppers, onions and assorted herbs; Breast of Chicken Sauted Zingara (tender young chicken sauteed in Madeira wine and a special house sauce), Pepper Steak and assorted seafood dishes. Lunch is served Monday through Saturday, with dinners and cocktails seven nights a week. Entertainment is offered Tuesday through Saturday.

SHILOH
 3rd and El Camino Real
 San Mateo
 347-6476

Rock music Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights with no cover charge, with special happy hour price from 9 to 10 p.m. The permanent house group is Blind Tiger. Sunday from 9 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. there is live jazz and swing groups ("oldies but goodies," as one of the owners put it). Luncheons are served Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Open seven days.

SALUTO'S
 1600 Old Bayshore Highway
 Burlingame
 697-6565

Operated by Larry Geraldi, who once ran the famed Domino Club of San Francisco, this Peninsula restaurant sets on the water's edge in Burlingame and reflects a less formal approach to dining out. He now says that a family of four can eat at Saluto's for as little as $12.08 — and that includes complimentary cheese fondue to set the meal in motion. Outstanding cuisine, service and decor, he claims, do not have to put a dent in your budget. The menu specializes in Italian and seafood dishes continental style. Favorites include: veal parmigiana, Cannelloni (for which Geraldi was famous at the Domino Club), Steak Bordelaise with Italian-style rice, Broiled Whopper Prawns.

SKYLARK
 63 West 37th Avenue
 San Mateo
 345-9042

Raymond Lim and his wife, Sui, have one of the few gourmet Chinese restaurants on the Peninsula, and yet they manage to keep food prices down while the quality remains above average. Don't let the "Number One" and "Number Two" dinners puzzle you. Everything at the Skylark is especially prepared and served family-style including Won Ton Soup, Pork Tenderloin, Sweet and Sour Barbecued Spareribs, Chicken Chow Mein, Jumbo Fried Prawns, etc. "The Gourmet Chinese Dinner" is really the highlight of this restaurant and should be ordered by those who think they've had everything in the Chinese cuisine department. Other food categories on the menu include various kinds of Chow Yuke (Lobster Cantonese, Water Chestnuts, Chinese Greens, Tomato Beef, Green Pepper Steak), Chow Mein or Chop Suey and egg dishes. Lim is a gentleman as well as a master chef. The Skylark dining room is open Tuesday through Sunday from 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. An adjacent cocktail lounge is open 10 a.m. to 2 a.m. daily.

Eight-one years — that's how long this German-style restaurant, has been in operation. And 52 of those years have been under the same management. Chalk up such phenomenal success to impeccable food, service and decor. Back in 1970 Women's Lib got in a few licks and for the past year or so the "no-ladies-for-lunch" policy has been rescinded — so now ladies and gentlemen are welcome for lunches and dinners. Open 11 a.m. to 9 p.m., Closed Saturdays and Sundays. Located between California and Sacramento streets. Imported draft beer is available.

SINALOA
1416 Powell
San Francisco
781-9624

Clarita Fazzari is a woman driven by her love for singing and dancing, and a few years ago she demonstrated her love for night club activity by purchasing the Sinaloa, a Mexican-style restaurant-night club that is one of the last of its kind in San Francisco. For 30-odd years, she said at the time, the club had been a highlight in the city's nocturnal activities, and it was her quest to keep that popularity alive. The dinners here remain the best of their kind, with a wide range of selections. That includes steak burritos, Tacos a la Sinaloa and the Steak Picado, otherwise known as Bistek a la Mexicana. All dinners come complete with soup and salad, rice, refried beans with cheese, tortillas, dessert and coffee. The current line-up of talent consists of Roberto, Rumbera, Charro, Cantate and Romantica. Their revue is one of the finest this side of the Mexican border.

in Old English food and atmosphere. One of the house specialties is Beef Stew Served in a Black Kettle. Ales flow freely here. Luncheons are served 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. with dinners starting at 5:10 p.m. The restaurant remains open Friday and Saturday until 11 p.m. The cocktail hour is 4 to 7 Tuesday through Friday. Piano bar entertainment.

STICKNEY'S HICKORY HOUSE
1852 El Camino Real
Redwood City
366-8486, 366-4219

Adrian Stickney started with this simple barbecue dining house back in 1950, and in the ensuing years has built Stickney Enterprises Inc. into one of the most active restaurant businesses in the Bay Area, with eating places also in Palo Alto and Santa Clara. The specialty at the Hickory House has always been barbecued spareribs cooked over a wood fire of oak and fruitwood — this lends a unique flavor.

The sauce put atop the spareribs is superb. Another house specialty is the Old-Fashioned Beef Stew — morsels of choice beef with carrots and whole sweet Irish potatoes. Master chef is William Pickering, while Veronica Hicks is maitre'd. Richard Aldred is general manager. Located directly behind the 235-person capacity restaurant is Stickney's own bakery, where he prepares all his own pastries for his many eating houses. These bakery goods are also for sale for all occasions. The Hickory House is open Monday through Saturday from 11:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m., on Sundays from 11:30 a.m. to 10:30 p.m. The lounge is open nightly until 2 a.m.

THE STEAK INN
Northwest Corner of Farmer's Market
Hillsdale

The Hillsdale Shopping Center's International Farmer's Market of restaurants has something for everybody, and this family steak house is among the best. All steak platters come with potato and roll. Three different cuts are priced at a remarkably-low $2.29; Rib Eye, Top Sirloin and New York Strip. Owner is the friendly Joe Acosta, a veteran of the food industry, who also operates the adjacent Sea 'n Salad business. A steak sandwich at the Steak Inn goes for just $1.44; a giant Super Burger is $1.44.

The Inn also serves a regular hamburger sandwich for only 74 cents. Steak and Prawns combination is a new menu item for only $2.99. Open daily from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. Beer and wine are also available.

TAI MING LOW
579 South Main Street
262-2224

When in the East Bay, and in particular, the Milpitas area, drop by the Tai Ming Low Restaurant. Conveniently located right on South Main, this restaurant specializes in Cantonese cuisine, as well as American dishes. The owner's name is Seton Chow, and he also does a great business in take-out orders. Lunches and dinners are served Monday thru Saturday, dinners only from 4 p.m. on Sundays. Tai Ming Low is closed on Tuesdays.

TIO'S
1622 Palm Avenue
San Mateo
341-9087

A Mexican restaurant with some very unusual dishes, thanks to the enterprising spirit of Armando "Tiny" Burgos and Benny Clewans. Where else, for example, could you find Gallina en Mole — chicken in a special chile sauce made with Mexican spices. Or Nopales con Huevo, which is cactus cooked in Mexican sauces and scrambled eggs. Flauts are rolled tacos, stuffed with shredded beef or chicken and topped with guacamole and sour cream. The decor of Tio's is just as authentic as the food, with the serapes, sombreros and other traditional Mexican items having been brought from Ensenada, Mexico, personally by Tiny and his wife. Impress your gringo friends by bringing them to Tio's. Open seven days a week from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m.

TOMMY'S JOYNT
Van Ness at Geary
San Francisco
775-4216

Located just across the street from the landmark Jack Tar Hotel is this world-famous hofbrau restaurant, owned and operated by the indefatigable Tommy Harris. What's so great about Tommy's is the bigger-than-average portions of turkey, ham, beef, pastrami and corned beef he serves — and at less-than-average prices. Buffalo Stew remains one of the unique items on Tommy's menu, for it is not served in any other restaurant west of the Mississippi. Turkey Texas Chili and Bean and Beer Soup are also on the menu, as are 70 different kinds of beer from all over the world. Man, this is some joint.

TRADER VIC'S
20 Cosmo Place
San Francisco
776-2232

While building a legend in his own lifetime, Victor "Trader Vic" Bergeron has created, without a doubt, one of the world's greatest restaurant empires. From his original Hinky Dinks on San Pablo Avenue (which could seat only 50 patrons and specialized in a 35-cent business man's lunch), Trader Vic has established a successful chain of restaurants throughout the United States and overseas. Early in his restaurant career, the Trader was advised by his doctor to "slow up" a bit. He then took his first trip to Tahiti, and the rest remains history. He returned rested and deeply interested in the South Seas and the Orient. Soon afterwards, the first Trader Vic's was launched. More and more success has followed Vic, his employees and their restaurants the past few years. The Trader is a man of rare imagination and inexhaustible energy, and as most people agree (particularly his employees), the key to the remarkable success enjoyed by his dining establishments.

Located on a hillside overlooking El Camino Real, this restaurant is owned and operated by two enterprising young men, Ron Rosenberg and Loring de Martini, who have made only a few changes since taking over last October from long-time owner Ivan Sawyer. Most of the menu items are meat oriented, with a few seafood specialties to give a touch of variety. Van's Special, one of the best dishes here, consists of Tornedo Filet with mushroom sauce. Other popular foods are the Petrale, Chicken Livers Saute and the Steak Minute with mushroom sauce. Plenty of wine selections. Dinners are served from 5 p.m. on Sundays. The Vans is open seven days a week, Monday through Saturday from 11 a.m.

VENETO'S
Mason and Bay
San Francisco
986-4554

A touch of Venice, the gabled canal city of Europe, comes to San Francisco by way of this unique restaurant which features (among other things) an authentic gondola floating on the premises. There are six beautiful dining rooms in all, with an antique doll collection on display that is famed throughout the world. Managed by Gary Stanton, with Louie Tozzi being executive chef, Veneto's offers banquet facilities for as many as 100 persons. Luncheon Monday through Friday from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m., although service is continuous on weekdays from 11:30 a.m. until 11:30 p.m. Open Saturday 4 to 11 p.m., Sunday from 4 to 10 p.m. Closed Monday.

VILLA CHARTIER
41st Avenue and El Camino Real
San Mateo
341-3456

Since the year 1939 Emerson Murfee (who also owns the Lanai Restaurant next door) has been one of the Bay Area's leading restaurateurs — and the reason is clear once you've dined in this exquisite dining house that specializes in prime ribs of beef, live Maine lobster, broiled Hawaiian Mahi Mahi Steak (Kona Beach style), Southern Fried Chicken and Tenderloin Tips of Beef Saute Stroganoff. Murfee has nine banquet rooms, including the spacious Winchester Room, which can seat 250 and has a dance floor and private bar. Open daily from noon for lunches and dinners. Organ music for your listening pleasure is provided in the cocktail lounge.

VILLA HOTEL
4000 S. El Camino Real
San Mateo
341-0966

A conveniently located hotel for travelers passing through San Francisco International, moderately priced. Owner Joseph Greenbach Jr. has made this motor inn-hotel a functional operation, with many services being offered its guests, such as 24-hour limousine service to and from the airport. Bradley Haddock is resident manager, while George Hughes is director of sales. Dietmar Barnikel is chef de cuisine, Kerry Wallace is purchasing agent, Florence Dellos is catering manager and Roberto Del Rio is banquet captain. The Villa Coffee Shop is open 24 hours a day for all kinds of meals. Specialties include Char-Broiled Top Sirloin Steak, Breaded Veal Cutlet, Old Fashion Beef Stew, Italian Spaghetti with Meatballs, Brochette of Beef, Beef Liver with Bacon and Onions. The Villa's pastries and desserts are superb: fruit pies, hot apple pie topped with a special cinnamon sauce and "heavenly" cream cheesecake. The Villa Lounge, a really swinging night spot, is now featuring the Charlie Blackwell Trio (direct from Las Vegas) for

VELVET TURTLE

Although you expect turtles to get around rather slowly, Velvet Turtles seem to be the exception, says Wally Botello, president of one of the fastest growing restaurant chains in California.

With five fine dining houses already in the Bay Area alone, the Velvet Turtle dancing Tuesday through Saturday from 9:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. Banquet facilities for parties large and small.

VINCE'S ITALIAN AND SEAFOOD
1528 El Camino Real
San Mateo
341-1480

Although Vince Licata and his staff are currently on vacation, they'll return July 8. This is a superb Italian and seafood restaurant with an incredibly large menu to choose from. Even a plate of ham and eggs is a special treat at Vince's, for his chefs give that extra little "caring" touch that is so important in an operation like this one. There are two large dining rooms, a comfortable bar and cocktail lounge (hors d'oeuvres are served from 5:30 p.m.) and an open air seafood depot for take-out orders. Daily for luncheons and dinners from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sundays from noon to 10 p.m.

WE'VE GONE BANANAS
210 El Camino Real
Belmont
592-9772

Formerly called DeeJays, this rollicking rock club features the top groups in the Bay Area for wild dancing and general gyrations. The large dance floor enhances the "boy meets girl" atmosphere. Now performing Tuesday through Saturday is the eight-piece rock group, Milestone. Performing Sunday and Monday nights is a superb group called Chisum. Dance contests are held every Thursday night. Ample parking area. The club was recently renovated inside and out, so if you haven't dropped around for a while, you should.

YAMATO
717 California
San Francisco
397-3456

One of the oldest and most respected Japanese restaurants in the United States — winner of Holiday awards and the prestigious four-star Mobil Award. American-style dining rooms with table top hibachis, or teppan rooms with recesses for leg and foot comfort — whatever your choice, you'll enjoy such dishes as beef teriyaki, sukiyaki, tempura and teppan steak served by luscious kimono-clad waitresses. The restaurant can also fill more ethnic dining needs with its sashimi, sushi and yose nabe, but its delicate artistry is appreciated by the American traveler as well as the Japanese. Prices are in the moderate range. All major credit cards accepted.

Air Travel One Of Best Buys

With the price of everything going up, the cost of air travel is still one of today's best buys. For example, the average price paid for a vacation flight to Europe this year is about 38 per cent below what you would have paid in 1958. It is this drop in transportation tickets which is helping to offset such things as hotel and meal costs and thus keep total travel costs within the average person's reach.

Omar Khayyam's Is the "Meeting And Eating Place of Celebrities"

George Mardikian's world-famous restaurant, Omar Khayyam's, located in San Francisco on Powell Street, one block from Union Square, is a mecca for gourmets and food connoisseurs from all over the world. It has been now for the past quarter of a century. It is also "the meeting place of celebrities," made so by the personality of the Armenian Horatio Alger. In the beginning Mardikian was a poor immigrant who came to San Francisco in 1922 and began working in the restaurant business. A few years later he bought one of the Coffee Dan businesses, and before long had turned it into Omar Khayyam's.

Mardikian is the author of the book "Song of America" and the famous cook book "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's." He lectures extensively and because he is a world traveler has been entertained by queens, prime ministers and emperors in 55 countries.

"Once upon a time I averaged 10 or 12 lectures a week," he recalls. The predominant theme of his talks and his writings for national magazines is that America is a wonderful place to live. "We must teach Americans to be proud of their heritage," he has said. "Too many are ashamed to be patriotic."

Mardikian has been active with the Boy Scouts of America for many years now, and has been a guiding inspiration within the organization. In fact, every cent he collects for his lectures is turned over to the local Boy Scout chapter in the city in which he is speaking.

The menu at Omar Khayyam's is highlighted by special dinners which are complete with soup, salad, entree, dessert and drink. The Shish Kebab De Lux (with pilaf, tomatoes, peppers and onions) is world famous. Other specialties of the house include Patljan a la Omar; Armenian Tchak-hokbelli Chicken; Sweet-bread a la Omar; Kouzou Kzartma; Janet Gaynor's Broiled Squab and Roast Duck a la Omar.

Usually Mardikian will come to your table and perform an age-old Armenian ritual — the breaking of the bread. It is his way of saying "What is mine is yours."

Free Memorial Concerts In New York's City Parks

The free Guggenheim Memorial Concerts in the city parks, a musical highlight of New York's summer life, will launch their 57th season by The Goldman Band, Wednesday, June 19, at 8 p.m. in Damrosch Park at Lincoln Center.

Edwin L. Weisl, Jr., New York City's Parks, Recreation and Cultural Affairs Administrator, announces that the Guggenheim Concerts will be performed this summer on Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays in the Guggenheim Bandshell at Damrosch Park. Because of the enormous success of the Brooklyn concerts at Seaside Park last year, this season The Goldman Band will perform all eight Saturday night concerts at Seaside Park beginning June 22. The season extends through August 10, with all concerts starting at 8:00 and ending at 10:00 P.M.

For the June 19 opening in Damrosch Park, conductor Richard Franko Goldman and associate conductor Ainslee Cox will lead the 54-piece Goldman Band in a selection of classics and semi-classics. Soprano Bernice Bramson will be the featured soloist. Her debut with the Goldman Band last summer was one of the highlights of the 1973 Guggenheim Concerts season.

ENJOYS AMERICA — George Mardikian, owner of the world famous Omar Khayyam's restaurant in San Francisco, author and lecturer, is pictured here at his Napa Valley ranch, where he inspects some of the vegetation which reminds him of his Armenian homeland. Since arriving in the United States (he was 18 years old), Mardikian has pursued a life of patriotism with missionary zeal. His book "Song of America" is an autobiography which describes the life and opportunities he found in his newly adopted country.

Tahoe Vista Has Boat Berthing and Rentals

Located directly on Lake Tahoe, yet just minutes away from the clubs and ski resorts, is the Tahoe Vista Lodge and Marina. As obvious in the name, boat berthing and launching facilities are on the premises, as well as boat rentals. As for the lodging, 18 units are available, some considered to be apartments with kitchens. In the winter months, this lodge is simply a skier's paradise, with several top-rated resorts just a short drive away. For dining, an excellent French restaurant is also on the premises. All and all, it's a vacationer's dream!

Hughes Airwest Feeds Edmonton

Edmonton, capital of the Province of Alberta and Canada's fourth largest city, has a population of more than 500,000.

Initially, service will be via Calgary and will consist of two flights a day, Mondays through Saturdays. There will be one flight on Sundays.

It will offer single-plane, round-trip flights for the first time to Edmonton from Los Angeles and Las Vegas through the Spokane gateway.

Edmonton will become the northernmost destination in the airline's system now comprising 63 cities in the western portion of North America.

MAZATLAN, MEXICO — This former refuge for pirates now sees its fleets depart daily in search of billfish instead of bullion but the lure of the chase remains. Last year more than 9,000 billfish were landed in these blue, Pacific waters as Mazatlan enhanced its reputation as a sports fishing mecca and the site of the annual international angling tournament held in late October. Yet, this three-harbor paradise is much more than a tropical shipping and fishing port. Located 750 miles northwest of Mexico City, and a ferry ride away from the Baja California Peninsula, this seaside paradise offers a range of pleasures. From partaking of freshly caught shrimp from vendors' carts, to enjoying first-class hotels, to horse-drawn carriages conveying you along the ocean-front drive — they're all yours.

Santa Barbara National Horse and Flower Show

Though well past the half-century mark, Santa Barbara's annual National Horse and Flower Show always features something new. This year — its 55th — the theme will be Italy, and a special performing group:

Palio of Siena, from the Italian city of the same name, will entertain at all eleven performances, July 12 to 20, according to Allen Ross, manager.

Over 3,000 premium books have been mailed to owners of eligible mounts and to horticulture exhibitors in the United States, Canada and Mexico who may wish to compete. The event is sponsored by California's 19th District Agricultural Assn., and staged in the two arenas and flower building at Santa Barbara's Earl Warren Showgrounds, located off the Freeway at Las Positas Road.

The nine day event will see $50,000 in cash prizes, plus handsome theme-oriented trophies, distributed to winners of equestrian contests in 152 classes, including the brand new special mule pleasure class.

The midsummer Santa Barbara National Horse Show is known among equine breeders and competitors as the arena where a horse must have won "to attain true national recognition." It has consistently been rated a star show by the American Horse Shows Assn. and Allen Ross has been regularly designated "best horse show manager in the nation" by the United Professional Horsemen's Assn. and Horses Magazine.

Great Southwest Proves Destination of Millions

Many have already made their pilgrimage to the fabled region of sand, cactus and canyon and millions more are packing their bags and making final preparations for the journey.

Their destination is an area known the world over as uniquely beautiful and American. The Grand Canyon . . . the Petrified Forest . . . Mesa Verde.

The heart of this Southwestern area is known as the Four corners . . . the place where the state of Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico come together. Within easy driving distance of that point are six National Parks, 28 National Monuments and three National Recreation Areas. That's enough beautiful geography, history and recreation to keep any tourist going for weeks.

In addition to the national parks and monuments, the area has many Indian reservations. The majority of America's native Indians who live on reservations live in the Four Corners area.

Great vistas of sand and sky, the strong clean scent of the sage brush and creosote bush, the heat and the dryness, and the appeal of the exotic and ancient Indian cultures all draw tourists to the Southwest and leave them with a special fondness for the area.

And although the last clean air in the country disappeared in the Southwest over a year ago, it is probably still the cleanest, clearest, driest air in the country. Yet there is smog in the Grand Canyon.

And there will probably be more, not only in the Grand Canyon but at Mesa Verde, Canyon de Chelly, Lake Meade and at all the other priceless natural and historical spots that dot the Four Corners area. For by 1985 an Perhaps more so than that of any other television star today, the story of Lawrence Welk, who literally has become a tradition in his own life-time, constitutes an ideal example of the wonders of America's free enterprise system.

His is the story of a youngster, born in a sod farmhouse in North Dakota, who lifted himself, by his own bootstraps, into acclamation as America's Number One musical television star.

The fact that Welk continues as star of his own musical television show today is a tribute both to Lawrence Welk himself and to his millions of dedicated fans who gave vent to their wrath when, last spring ABC dropped his program from its schedule at the end of its 16th year on that network. In the three weeks following the announcement, more than one million letters and wires, and thousands of phone calls to ABC stations throughout the country, flooded into ABC headquarters, decrying cancellation of his program.

ABC had second thoughts on the cancellation, but not soon enough: long planned by Welk and his counsellors, a complete Lawrence Welk network of some 221 television stations throughout America, had been formed, consisting of about half of the ABC network stations, one-third NBC stations, and one-third CBS stations, plus a group of strong independent stations in key cities throughout America.

A far cry it was, indeed, from that day, in 1878, long ago, when Bismarck's invading Prussians stormed into Alsace Lorraine, causing peace-loving farmer, Ludwig Welk, and his bride, Christina, to flee to America. Welk settled near Strasburg, N.D., a German-immigrant community, where fertile farmland assured a secure future, and here they built a sod hut and reared a family of four boys and four girls.

Next to the youngest boy, Welk inherited his love for music from his father. While yet a toddling youngster, he was fascinated with the old fashioned button accordion his father had brought with him from the old country. Lawrence fingered the shining instrument as his dad played, and gradually learned to play it himself. As he grew older, he studied every evening after chores, his father accompanying him on the family pump-organ.

Local celebrations soon found Lawrence and "his" accordion in demand, and his ambition to make his own way musically was aroused. When a mail-order accordion his dad bought for him finally broke down under the strain of his constant playing, he pleaded with his father to buy him a strong instrument, which cost $400. Urged by his mother, his dad finally consented when young Welk pledged to remain a farmer until his 21st birthday, further pledging to pay for the accordion by handing over to his father every penny he would earn until that day, via barn dances, natal day celebrations, weddings and church socials.

On his 21st birthday, his dad repaid several times over, Lawrence took a deep breath and left Strasburg for "fame and fortune." At Aberdeen, S.D., he joined one band after another, realizing finally how little he really knew about music. Unable to read a single note, he worked at it and slowly bettered himself musically, even studying and "graduating" from a correspondence course in piano tuning. Later, he formed his first "band," consisting of himself and a drummer, later adding saxophone and piano players. Gifted with the Midwestern beat he was born into, the Welk group played at dances and community celebrations throughout the entire region.

Twenty-one years of field labor on a farm had given Welk the brawn required to withstand the rigors of "one-nighter" dance bookings, but his accent, the result of living among German families in the small Strasburg community, where their native tongue was constantly spoken, constituted a sizable handicap. Determined, he tried to polish his speaking language, but has never succeeded, a fact which chagrins him, but which has proved no real handicap at all.

In 1925, snowbound in Yankton, S.D., en route to New Orleans, his arrival coincided with the opening day of radio station WNAK. Curiosity impelled Welk to visit the station on the morning of the opening, and in a talk with the owner, his group was hired on the spot for a "special opening-day broadcast."

Running the five blocks from the station to the hotel where his bandmen were still sleeping, he shouted out the news, and within an hour they were on the air, the first radio performance of the Welkmen. Telephone calls flowed into the station, and they remained on the air indefinitely, playing every day, and playing nightly at regional dances and celebrations throughout the area, billed as "The Biggest Little Band in America." In line with Welk's aim to provide maximum entertainment, he hired only musicians who played several instruments each, or who could sing, a formula he has adhered to throughout his entire career.

The group gradually developed a "style" — a bouncing effervescence which made toes tap. "A want-to-dance beat," he called it, and today its bubbling quality is known the nation over as Champagne Music, so-named officially in 1938 while performing in the William Penn Hotel, in Pittsburgh. Frothy, crisp, and with a steady beat, Welk features original melody as written by the composers, and features too, simple harmonies and the steady dance beat so representative of the barn dances on which he was weaned.

Steadily the group prospered, and began appearing in key cities throughout the Midwest and East, in hotels and ballrooms. Finally, he reached New York, playing the "Mecca," the Roosevelt Hotel, where he replaced Guy Lombardo for a few weeks.

In 1951, a six-week booking at the Aragon Ballroom in Pacific Ocean Park, outside Los Angeles, found him playing a previously scheduled hour television program on Los Angeles' station KTLA, with amazing results.

People flocked in to see and dance to this new band, and to meet Welk and his people. The six-week engagement stretched into 11 years, until, in 1961, he transferred his "musical home" from the Aragon to the world-famous Hollywood Palladium, in the heart of Hollywood. Earlier, in 1953, while still at the Aragon, he had been signed by Los Angeles' Dodge dealers for a television program on KTLA, which netted record audiences, and made the Aragon the most popular ballroom in the West.

After three years locally for the Southern California Dodge dealers, Lawrence Welk was signed by Dodge for national television, as a 13-week summer replacement.

In the fall of 1971, however, Teleklew will move its headquarters to Lawrence Welk Plaza, a breathtakingly beautiful complex on Ocean Avenue and Wilshire Boulevard in Santa Monica, overlooking the Pacific Ocean. The complex consists of a 22-story office building, mainly occupied by the General Telephone Company as its home offices, and a luxurious 15-story Champagne Towers apartment building.

At the ground-breaking for the Lawrence Welk Plaza, in 1970, Welk, for the first time since he left his father's farm in Strasburg, donned overalls, mud-boots, and drove a mule-powered plough, to symbolize official commencement of the project.

Welk's truly is the story of America's free enterprise system, and the opportunity it affords citizens to avail themselves of natural talents to achieve personal goals and ambitions.

Park Avenue Tours "Puts You in the Drivers Seat"

Whether you like to drive your own car, or let someone else do the driving for you, you will be content with the services now being offered by Park Avenue Tours.

All you have to do is take your pick of two current programs. Either you can drive your own car to Lake Tahoe for a few days of fun, gambling and all-around action, or you can take one of the scheduled or chartered buses to the fun lake. As for the bus service, there are daily eight-hour turnaround Greyhound schedules from the San Francisco and Oakland terminals.

While the main focus in the past has been on the Lake Tahoe area, Park Avenue Tours now is offering Las Vegas and Reno packages, which means you now have your choice of three spots for fun in the sun (or in the shadow of the slot machines, if you so choose).

For further details on these magnificent tours, there are three offices at your beck and call: in San Mateo at 1415 S. El Camino Real (345-0488); in San Francisco at 606 Mission Street (981-2700) and in Oakland at 414 13th Street (834-7400).

Bill Page Ork. Lawrence Welk In Harvey's Tiki Lounge

In the Theatre Lounge: Matys Brothers through June 16; Carol Chin and Roots of Sand through June 16 and the Four Tunes through June 23.

Opening in the Theatre Lounge on June 14 is the Frankie Fanelli Show through July 11 and Helen Long and the Long Shots opening on June 17 through June 29. Zella Lehr opening on June 19 through July 7.

The Sounds of Holly will entertain in the New Harvey's Inn re-opening and will appear through July 7.

The Sounds of Holly consists of the combined talents and experience of Eileen and Wes Holly, highly trained and seasoned performers.

Each contributes lead and harmony vocals and combined they feature the sounds of seven instruments. Guitorgan, which is guitar and organ combined, GBX Floor Brass, Banjo, Guitar, Auto-harp and Drums. Four instruments are constantly in play but alternating creates many changes of sounds.

The voices are as different as man and woman with Eileen having an unusually clear bell-like quality while Wes has the deep chested baritone sound. Yet they blend surprisingly well in harmonizing situations.

Lawrence Welk Next at Harrah's Tahoe

Lawrence Welk, a perennial favorite of summer audiences at Lake Tahoe, returns with his TV stars to the South Shore Room at Harrah's Tahoe next Friday evening (June 21) for a three-week engagement.

Welk and his TV entertainers will appear twice nightly through July 11. Shows are scheduled at 8:15 p.m. and midnight. Appearing in the South Shore Room through June 20 is comedian Don Rickles.

Presenting a "family show", the Welk production mixes comedy with song, dance, and music to provide a well-rounded program. The swift pace of his singers, dancers, and musicians provides an endless barrage of festivity and music — everything from dixieland to ballroom, jazz to ragtime.

Appearing in the Stateline Cabaret are Johnnie Ray, featuring Sunflight, plus Command Performance, and magician Blackstone, Jr. In the Hideaway Lounge is Doris King; at the Summit Restaurant is the Abe Battat Trio.

Future South Shore Room attractions at Harrah's Tahoe include Eddy Arnold (July 12-30).

Minden Inn "Desert Oasis"

Just 35 miles south of Reno, off Highway 395, stands the community of Minden, Nevada, and "in the heart of the city" stands the famed Minden Inn.

"Best steaks in Nevada" — that's what they'll tell you as you're driving through the desert state, whether it be multi-millionaires or old unshaven prospectors leading a mule on a harness.

The rooms at the Minden Inn are comfortable and moderately priced, and the dining room offers breakfast, lunch and dinner. (For those with sporting blood, there is a gaming room).

Barney's South Shore For Fun And Relaxation

Barney's at South Shore Lake Tahoe is one of those places where you want to go for fun and relaxation, escaping the mad pace of everyday living.

One way to get there is by way of a special package program that enables you to travel by bus or your own car to have fun the Nevada way.

This package, available seven days a week, costs only $13.95 per person for a one-night trip, double occupancy, and is offered Sundays through Fridays. Another package costs only $23.95 and gives you two nights in the Nevada area — any two nights of the week.

In return you will receive a bonus value of $10, which is broken down into $6 cash, $1 food credit and $3 in cocktails.

You can make reservations, or receive additional information, by calling any of these numbers: 981-2700, 495-5990 in San Francisco; 834-7400 in Oakland and 345-0488 in San Mateo.

Virginia City Comstock House Now "Kitty's Longbranch"

In 1868 the Comstock House Hotel was established in Virginia City, Nevada.

Today, however, you will find no sign reading "Comstock House Hotel." It was taken down long ago.

In its place you will find a sign reading "Kitty's Longbranch."

Like this historic town which still clings to its colorful gold rush past, Kitty's clings to a traditional past that is wild and woolly. The Longbranch, in fact, has become one of the most popular attractions in Virginia City.

Charlie Palmer, the current host, reports that activities at the Longbranch reflect much of the past through the country and western music groups which perform throughout the week.

Palmer is especially proud of the fabulous 24-carat gold leaf bar and the prevailing old-time atmosphere of the saloon-hotel, which somehow managed to survive the disastrous fire of 1875.

Comfortable lodging is available for overnight guests. For room information call 702-2571.

Ponce Harolds Club Reno

Poncie Ponce, versatile singer-musician and star of the "Hawaiian Eye" television series, is currently appearing in Harolds Club Silver Dollar Room.

Onstage at 10, 12 and 2 each night, Poncie sings ballads, novelty tunes, Hawaiian and contemporary songs. Poncie's voice ranges from the lively "Tijuana Taxi" to the slower, romantic "Hawaiian Wedding Song."

Impersonations, yodeling and sing-alongs are a part of each show as well as Poncie playing the ukelele, trumpet, bongos and saxophone.

Appearing with Poncie is singer Cathi Hayes, who blends contemporary songs with old standards. "I Wish You Love," "Almost Like Being in Love," and "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" are some of her favorite songs.

Cathi also sings cuts from her album, "It's All Right With Me," during her performances at 9, 11 and 1.

Barney's El Capitan Hawthorne, Nevada Vacation

Aurora, Rawhide, Candelaria and Bellville are ghost towns now, but at one time they were thriving mining communities that lived off rich deposits of manganese, iron, lead, barium, copper, gold, mercury, silver and talc.

Those ghost towns still give a colorful glimpse into the past of Mineral County, located in west central Nevada, which in recent years has become a place sought out by many as an escape from smog-bound cities. Hunting is good here, with antelope, deer, cougar and big-horn sheep among the prey, and the trout yielded by picturesque Walker Lake are of the species known as Giant Cutthroat. This 22-mile-long body of water has produced the largest Cutthroat trout in the nation consecutively for the past ten years," according to "Field And Stream."

But Mineral County is more than a place for hunters and fishermen. In recent years land developers, prospectors and billionaires have given considerable attention to the area as a place that will grow as the state of Nevada grows. The economy of the county is assured by the presence of the world's largest Naval Ammunition Depot with 1500 employees, and it is the opinion of many that Mineral County will one day be "the tranquil land" of recreation.

The bracing high-desert air will, these businessmen feel, provide zest for water-skiing, swimming, boating, fishing and even exploring of caves and fossil diggings. The weather is perfect: mild year-round.

The county seat is Hawthorne, which was first introduced to the world by Mark Twain when he wrote of his experiences in "Roughing It," and visitors still find ore samples, petrified wood, turquoise, fireops and rare old bottles — not to mention valuable Indian artifacts. They also find a thriving community that features indoor excitement as well — namely in the form of Barney's El Capitan Lodge and Casino.

The El Capitan in the words of one well-seasoned traveler, provides the restful comfort you need as a base for further explorations of Mineral County.

It is one of the most elaborate clubs outside of Las Vegas or the Reno-Lake Tahoe area, and features everything you would expect, from a leisurely dining area (whether it be for a fast breakfast, a snack or a gourmet dinner) to a showroom which has, over the years, highlighted top name talent.

And each year the club offers $500 in cash to the most successful Walker Lake trout fisherman. Which means on any given morning you'll find plenty of corners casting their lines into the beautiful, breathtaking lake.

"This is the place of the future," says a rich oilman who travels all the way from Texas each year just to play golf and relax in this scenic Nevada county.

"You're going to see Mineral County grow during the next few years. New communities are going to spring up, and one day, you mark my words, it will become known as the hideaway spot of the world. I just hope it doesn't get too overpopulated and lose its name of 'Tranquil Land'."

This can't be stressed enough, as the area is simply a dream for families that truly enjoy America's great outdoors. Hunting, fishing, golfing, boating or just watching the reflective blue water of Walker Lake change color with the seasons, are all activities avidly enjoyed by visitors to Hawthorne.

Since America is now considered a nation on wheels, you can be sure the citizens of Hawthorne have prepared accordingly. Free public camp grounds are available, with many overnight accommodations directly on the lake. Unlike the other major resort areas of Nevada, Hawthorne is not "hungry" for the tourist dollar. You'll find no "stick-ups" or high-binding when it comes to prices, whether they be for food or lodging. In fact, the other extreme proves to be the case, and most people are absolutely delighted when it comes time to pay the tab for an overnight, Capitan Lodge and Casino, weekend or week's stay. P.O. Box 1187, Hawthorne, Nev., 89415.

For more information about the area, write for FREE Transportation Free Coupon Book and Brochure from Hawthorne's Modern Club from Barney's El Capitan Lodge to the lodge.

Your Nevada Vacation Playground

The bracing high-desert air, free from urban smog, provides an extra zest for your water-skiing, swimming, boating, fishing or exploring lake shore caves. The twenty-mile long Walker Lake has room for all of these activities without crowding. FREE public campgrounds. Mild weather year-round.

Recreation in this county (Mineral County) includes golf, hunting big and small game — but — if your interest lies indoors there are casinos and live entertainment.

You're invited to enjoy the hospitality of Barney's El Capitan Lodge & Casino.

You may dabble — or splurge — or follow your system — at the most elaborate Nevada club outside of Las Vegas or Reno-Lake Tahoe. FREE Transportation from Hawthorne's Modern Airport to the Lodge.

"Disneyland Will Never Be Completed"

This promise by Walt Disney, made when he dedicated the "magic kingdom" to the world, has become his most often-repeated quote about Disneyland. Perhaps it is because nearly every year since 1955, Disneyland has added at least one new attraction to its original roster.

There were 22 major attractions, built at a cost of $17 million, when Disneyland opened on July 17, 1955. Today, the total number of attractions has grown to 54, representing a capital investment in Disneyland of more than $136 million.

Disneyland's physical expansion is paralleled by growth in its popularity. Annual attendance passed 10 million people for the first time in 1970. On June 17, 1971, Disneyland welcomed its one hundred millionth guest since opening.

To create Disneyland and its attractions, Walt Disney built a unique organization called WED Enterprises.

WED Enterprises, the initials WED are those of Walter E. Disney), is the Master-Planning, Design and Engineering arm of the Disney Organization charged with the primary responsibility for creating outdoor entertainment facilities (i.e., Disneyland, Walt Disney World).

A staff of project designers, sculptors, research and development technicians, model builders and interior decorators work side by side with architects, engineers, and draftsmen in the design of attractions and adventures themed to the worlds of yesterday, today, tomorrow and the timeless worlds of fantasy and fiction.

WED "Imagineers" create every project from original concept to installation, master-planning each new idea — from a single entertainment attraction to the use and development of thousands of acres. Such masterplanning is followed by the designing of the individual project itself. Whether the attraction exhibit, or show is large or small, it receives the same careful consideration from the WED team — since attention to detail has always been a hallmark of Disney. Design then gives way to engineering as the project is readied for installation. In many cases, the fully developed project bears only slight resemblance to the original concept, that concept having undergone a continual process of change and improvement.

Working closely with the WED staff is MAPO, another division of Walt Disney Productions (the name comes from MARY POPPINS). MAPO was formed in July 1965 to develop prototype entertainment and transportation systems, and is an integral part of the engineering and installation of new projects.

MAPO's staff of highly skilled engineers and technicians fabricate, assemble and test prototype systems and components for WED-designed attractions.

Meeting Place*7 Nights A Week

The Meeting Place, a first-class dining operation in Reno, couldn't be more conveniently located. Just one-half mile from the coliseum, and 15 minutes away from Reno's busy airport, this establishment offers dinner service seven nights a week from 4 p.m. to 4 a.m. The 1890's Victorian decor is a marvelous setting for a relaxing evening of food and entertainment. The dinner menu includes New York Steak, barbecued spareribs, prawns and a huge spaghetti and meatball plate. Or you might try the Chef's Special, which changes daily. There is also a considerable menu of hors d'oeuvres, with the combination plates serving 4 to 6 persons. As far as entertainment is concerned, owners Lou and Ellen Valsek present top-notch groups nightly, with dancing seven nights a week. Banquets are also a specialty, with facilities for up to 200 persons.

SWEET LADY — Faith, a new and versatile young lady on the music scene who was recently selected from many contestants to appear at the Landmark Hotel in Las Vegas on their new Showcase of young talent, is signed for a stint at Harvey's Resort Hotel, Stateline, in July.

Two Acts for Nevada Lodge Topaz Room

Two music acts are sharing the Topaz Room stage this week at the North Shore's Nevada Lodge — Rose & The Arrangement and Cathy O'Shea — Solid Gold. For your listening and dancing pleasure, shows are nightly, starting around 8 p.m. and continuing into the wee hours of morning. On Saturdays and Sundays, the entertainment can also be enjoyed during the sumptuous dinner buffet.

Rose & The Arrangement, who will be appearing through Sunday, June 23, offer a combination of solos and four-way vocals, plus light comedy. Contemporary numbers are their specialty, with Rose Labelia as the star vocalist, backed by drummer Sal Labelia, bassist Rex Paris and Doug Drill on piano, organ and piano-bass. You may recall their lively 1973 release "Chula Vista."

SUE THOMPSON
Reno, Nev.

Sue Thompson Nitery And Recording Star, Now Eldorado Hotel

"Sad Movies," Sue's first for Hickory, launched a series of hits that included "Norman," "James (Hold The Ladder Steady)," "Have a Good Time," "Paper Tiger" and others. The stage and top TV shows in the United States, as well as in Europe, featured the talents of Sue Thompson (Sue picked the name Thompson for her stage name from a telephone book). Next in her agenda of appearances were "American Bandstand," "Hullabaloo," "The Jackie Gleason Show," and a filmed TV series in England with Frankie Vaughn.

The one experience that prompted the new direction of Sue's career was her tour of the Far East. She and her "Denny Martin Trio" spent a month entertaining the troops in Vietnam and visiting hospitals. The troupe also played dates in Japan, Okinawa, Taiwan, the Philippines, Hong Kong and Thailand, as well as Germany and Spain.

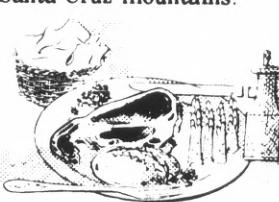

"I don't want to be 'itty bitty' anymore," says Sue. "I want to project love and convey a more mature sound and a more meaningful message in my recordings. Country music, now accepted by all, is a more stable outlet in that country fans pay more attention to what is being said in a song, and country artists and songs seem to stay around a lot longer. Now that I feel I have something important to say, I want to be sure that it's heard. The sound and mood, of course, will be modern and up-to-date." Her latest Hickory recordings are "Sweet Memories" and "Making Love to You Is Just Like Eating Peanuts."

This is why Sue Thompson has branched out into another area of music. She feels that country music is the most fertile outlet for the gal with an "itty bitty" voice who doesn't want to be "itty bitty" anymore.

Isaac Hayes Now At Del Webb's Sahara Tahoe

With a brand new movie and album under his coat of chains, Isaac Hayes returns to Del Webb's Sahara Tahoe for a seven-day engagement June 14-20. Never resting on the success of "Shaft", Hayes' movement now includes selections from his latest endeavor "Three Tough Guys."

It's been a long journey for Hayes in his quest for recognition. With perseverance he's already made it from the Tennessee cotton fields, where he daydreamed of a musical career, all the way to Philharmonic Hall in New York, backed by a 20-piece orchestra, performing selections from his four million-selling albums.

Along the way, Hayes helped create the world-famous "Stax/Volt Memphis Sound" as co-writer and co-producer of such soul classics as "Hold On I'm Coming" and "Soul Man." When Hayes made his debut as a vocalist, he recorded with members of the Memphis Symphony Orchestra and he transformed familiar songs, such as "By The Time I Get To Phoenix" and "Walk On By," into eleven and twelve minute mood pieces, often preceding them with intensely personal monologues.

There are still a few people who don't know who Isaac Hayes is, but they should be getting the message soon. Commitments in the recording studio limited his personal appearances until a year ago, when he began accepting a few concert dates. Hayes is probably the only musician who's appeared at Hollywood Bowl with the Los Angeles Symphony, been guest soloist with the Memphis Symphony and broken the attendance record at the Apollo Theatre in Harlem.

Behind the staggering statistics is a charismatic vocalist, pianist, composer, and record producer whose flamboyant, imposing presence was once described as "the Hollywood version of an African chief." His music innovations, his mysterious, spiritual image, and his rise from cotton fields to concert halls prompted his followers to dub Hayes "Black Moses."

Tough guy, Black Moses, African Chief — it all adds up to Isaac Hayes at Del Webb's Sahara Tahoe through June 20.

NEVADA FAVORITE — J. J. Mack, one of the most popular lounge entertainers to hit the Las Vegas and Reno areas in recent months, is scheduled for a return engagement at Lake Tahoe's Sahara Tahoe in June.

El Dorado Hotel Newest Reno Highrise Edition

The skyline of Reno, "the world's biggest little city," continues to change as the community continues to grow.

One of the newest additions to that skyline is the fabulous $5 million Eldorado Hotel-Casino, located in downtown Reno.

tinental cuisine there is out of this world.

"You can expect more from the Eldorado," a friend recently told us. "More from the employees, but because they care about what they are doing. And more from the management, because they are going out of their way to see that you have an extra special good time at Eldorado."

"And," a gambler told us, "they give you more in the casino. I came home a winner for a change."

Le Trianon Family Resort

Located On Blue Lakes

The Blue Lakes of Ukiah are picturesque bodies of water, brimming with black bass, blue-gill and rainbow trout, among other species of water life. The sun beats down on these beautiful lakes in such a manner that the surfaces of the water seem to shimmer a golden color. More than one fisherman has tried to reach down and scoop up a handful of this "gold."

Now the Blue Lakes can be yours by planning to spend a vacation at Le Trianon, a lovely resort owned and operated by personable Bob Summers. Only three hours away from the Bay Area, Le Trianon is a favorite summertime spot, where fisherman, rowboat fans and nature lovers gather. During the hunting season, ample game can be found in the surrounding vicinity.

King's Lodge Offers A "Royal Welcome"

If you are looking for a place to stay in Monterey when you attend the Monterey Jazz Festival or Laguna Seca car races, you can't go wrong by staying at King's Lodge. Conveniently located in the downtown area, King's Lodge, under the ownership of Tom and Pauline Aliotti, offers large family units equipped with king size beds.

As always, pets are allowed, and there is courtesy coffee as well as cable television for your viewing enjoyment.

Munras avenue in Monterey. Ask the Aliottis about their special winter rates.

Highlands Inn An Ideal Vacation Site

Highlands Inn near Carmel is an ideal vacation site, for not only is its beauty scenic, but it offers a benevolent atmosphere of relaxation and rest, with nothing high pressured or fast-moving about it. Which is exactly what we need nowadays to escape the helter skelter of contemporary life.

In addition to cottages and deluxe accommodations, a swimming pool and a restive dining room/lodge atmosphere, Highlands Inn offers a gift shop, near which is the magnificent hand-carved credenza, designed and made by Brigham Young — a masterful work of art. Young, who was a carpenter and furniture maker in addition to his other achievements to historic recognition, made this credenza from cherrywood. It is one of a kind, a work of love. The beautiful hand-carved cameo portrait on the door of the credenza of Young's fourth plural wife, Clara Decker.

Ray Plunkett General Manager Crystal Bay Club

The Crystal Bay Club, situated on North Lake Tahoe's scenic shores, has veteran Ray Plunkett, with many years experience in the business, as its General Manager. This beautiful side of the lake is not crowded and offers an ideal vacation spot. It's a short drive from the Bay Area on good highways and a short distance to visit historic Virginia City, and Nevada's capital, Carson City. A combination of golfing, tennis, water sports, fishing and horseback riding are all available in the area.

along with TV's famous Ponderosa Ranch only five minutes away. The Crystal Bay Club has undergone many new changes and invites you to enjoy their gourmet dining room, cocktails, coffee shop, and, of course, round-the-clock gambling in their fine casino.

Short Term And Long Term Travel

Travelers in California, according to statistics provided by various travel services and agencies, can take two kinds of trips — the short term and the long term.

The short-term vacation is usually reserved for weekends, wherein Californians scoot off to beach areas or drive into the mountains for a smogless picnic. Modern roads and faster modes of transportation have made such trips increasingly practical.

As for the long-term trip, it takes travelers to such places as Disneyland or Knott's Berry Farm in Los Angeles. Lake Tahoe and Las Vegas are other favorite spots.

Because of the fact there are so many places to see, and things to do, you are advised to make your plans in advance.

We recommend you rely on Travelaide, a map-directory which is available free at most Interstate service stations. The Travelaide includes a map which focuses on the highways, interchanges and feeder highways, plus a directory that lists accommodations such as motels, restaurants, tourist attractions and recreational areas.

As always, pets are allowed, and there is courtesy coffee as well as cable television for your viewing enjoyment.

Ormsby House

Two-Man Band

One Plus Two, the versatile duo of Tim Welsh and John Racza, make up a "two man band," in the Mark Twain Casino Lounge at Carson City's Ormsby House Hotel-Casino. Tim plays drums, alto and tenor saxophones, flute and clarinet, while John specializes in organ, piano, trumpet, flugelhorn and bass. They both vocalize and together can produce the sound of ten men.

Easy-going, funny and loaded with popular tunes, John and Tim have been involved in music one way or another most of their lives.

Knott's Berry Farm for Fun

Everyone talks about Disneyland as one of the chief attractions in Southern California, but few realize that just as appealing is a recreation center that was in existence long before Mr. Disney set his sights on Anaheim.

This historic landmark is Knott's Berry Farm, situated in colorful Buena Park. In recent years the entertainment center has undergone extensive remodeling, so many of its picturesque attractions are relatively new. The park is broken down into five distinctive areas, each with a uniquely different western motif. The main entrance features a number of markets, gift shops and restaurants. Once past these introductory highlights, you enter a kingdom known as the Ghost Town, where you can enjoy stagecoach rides, antique shops, Western-style shootouts, mule trains, etc.

Beyond the ghost town is the Gypsy Camp and John Wayne Theater, tucked away in a mountain setting with hidden caves of games and shops. The Fiesta Village offers antique auto rides, a carousel, the Mexican Whip and an animal farm. Knott's Lagoon hosts the riverboat ride, a merry-go-round, a miniature train ride, a burro ride and a jungle island.

There are acres of free parking, so no problem about that. The traditions established by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Knott have been kept alive, and even enhanced, over the years through not only the recreational facilities but through the award-winning restaurants, which even feature banquet facilities.

The rides and recreations can be enjoyed through the money-saving ticket books.

ELECTRIC TOUCH — One Plus One, the versatile duo of Tim Welsh and John Racza, entertain in the Mark Twain Casino Lounge at Ormsby House Hotel-Casino, in Carson City.

Pine Acres Guided Camp Tours

If you are looking for something really different in the way of vacations, you should seriously consider Pine Acres Resort, situated in the Sierra Nevada Mountains (heart of the Mother Lode Country), bordered on the east by the Mokelumne River, the south by Lake Tabour, the north by State Highway 88 and the Kit Carson Pass.

Once snugly ensconced in the resort, you will enjoy such recreation as swimming, fishing and panning for gold. There is a motel, housekeeping cabins (with oil lamps and barbecue pits for cooking), campgrounds (for pitching tents and/or parking your truck campers), restaurant, saloon and convention hall.

Six miles away is Roaring Camp, the restoration of an early mining settlement in Mokelumne Canyon on the Mokelumne River. Guided tours are taken daily to Roaring Camp, which features tiny prospectors' cabins, a general store and trading post. For those who want to stay for a week or longer, cabins are available.

Torch-Lite Inn for Santa Cruz Vacation

Santa Cruz remains one of California's brightest holiday spots, offering a plethora of activities with its beautiful beaches, picnic areas, boardwalk attractions, and inn accommodations.

Among the finest in the latter category is the Torch-Lite Inn, located at 500 Riverside Avenue in Santa Cruz (that's at the corner of San Lorenzo Boulevard and Riverside).

You are conveniently located only two blocks from the beach. A nine-hole putting green is at your disposal, and a heated pool enables you to take a dip anytime during the day that you (or your children) choose. The phone system is direct dial and there are color television sets for your viewing entertainment. Call owner Karl Yared at 428-7575 and he'll provide you with all the information you need as you make plans for your next Santa Cruz holiday.

Memories of the Gold Rush Days Attract Tourists to Colorful Virginia City

Virginia City, Nev., is water and hoisting rock from steeped in colorful history. Located 23 miles southeast of Reno, the tiny community replaced the pack horses to be after two brothers, Ethan Allen and Hosea Ballous. Crosch discovered the famous Comstock Lode. However, both died soon after and the claim was taken over by Canadian trapper Henry Comstock.

By 1862 at least 40 companies had erected shaft houses, and 12 had installed machinery for pumping

Well, today the population has climbed back to 800 or more, and sightseers from see a touch of 19th century living. Establishments of yesteryear live on — places with such picturesque names as The Bucket of Blood, the Silver Queen, The Bonanza, The Delta and the Long-Branch Saloon. Visitors always flock to see the cemetery not far from the village, where are buried some of the most colorful (and sometimes ruthless) characters of the Old West. Many of the old mansions have been restored to their former opulence. Also, renovated and like new: St. Mary's in the Mountains Catholic Church, the Opera House and St. Paul Episcopal Church.

Arizona More Than Cowboys and Indians

There is this capital city of Phoenix, for example, one of the driest, warmest and sunniest spots in the country. The sun is supposed to shine bright on old Kentucky homes. Actually, it spends 86 per cent of all daylight hours beaming on the newer Phoenix homes. Humidity is an average 33 per cent throughout the year, the average maximum temperature is 84.6 degrees and the annual rainfall is a measly 7.4 inches.

A writer who calls himself a "cold country transplant" — he moved to Phoenix some years ago — says that he shivers now only when he thinks how awful it would be to have to leave.

Popular Waterloo

Waterloo, the Belgium battleground on which Napoleon met the defeat that altered the course of world history, has long been one of Europe's premiere visitor attractions. Only 12 miles outside Brussels, the battlefield is described by the American Automobile Association as being impressively preserved and well-marked in several languages.

The writer says that his bragging about his adopted city always brings the cry: "Yeah, but when you get down to it, Phoenix is a hick town."

Not so? Not so at all.

For shopping, there are Saks Fifth Avenue, I. Magnin and other stores of national repute. In sports, Phoenix has teams in NBA basketball, WHL hockey, PCL baseball and two major dates on the U.S. Auto Club racing calendar.

Nine airlines serve Phoenix and the city's airport has been designated an international facility. American Airlines operates daily flights between Phoenix and San Francisco and Oakland.

Money Mondays

America's four new Monday holiday weekends are expected to boost the nation's leisure time expenditures from last year's $150 billion to more than $250 billion by 1975. The American Automobile Association says only four states — Louisiana, Oklahoma, South Dakota and Wisconsin — have not passed the Monday holiday legislation which would create several three-day weekends for their citizens.

George M. Mardikian

NATIONAL RECOGNITION AWARD

By FREEDOM'S FOUNDATION AT VALLEY FORGE To GEORGE MARDIKIAN

For his deep and abiding love for his adopted America.

For his prodigious efforts to tell America about the blessings of freedom too often taken for granted:

"That July morning when I first saw the Statue of Liberty from the deck of the immigrant steamer, it was like suddenly hearing a hymn of hope.

"The priceless thing America has given me has nothing to do with money or fame . . . I call it the dignity of being American.

"Many fine young Americans have a chance to be something . . . have faith in yourself, faith in your Country, and, third and foremost, faith in almighty God. Back this up with hard work and nothing can stop you."

Haig Mardikian

THE MECCA FOR ALL THE GOURMETS AND FOOD CONNOISSEURS OF THE WORLD FOR A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

George Mardikian's
World-Famous Restaurant

Omar
Khayyam's

of the earth

O'FARRELL at POWELL—SAN FRANCISCO
OPEN DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY—7:30-10:10

It is the home of many new American gastronomical delights. Its colorful owner is George M. Mardikian, famous author of "Song of America," published by McGraw-Hill Book Company; "I Found the Happy Land," published by Reader's Digest; many philosophical essays in "This Week Magazine" and, of course, not forgetting his famous cook book "Dinner at Omar Khayyam's" now in its 12th edition.

It was George M. Mardikian who added to the American vocabulary such words as Lavash (Armenian bread), Rose Petal Preserves, Shish Kebab, Pilaff, Kouzou Kzartuna Dolma, Paklava, Haigagan Salad, Patlijan and Tchakhokhbelli Chicken and many more.

Many special articles have been written in such National and International magazines as Reader's Digest, Life, Time, Newsweek, Saturday Evening Post, Look, Collier's, This Week, Parade, Women's Home Companion and twice in the Congressional Record.

Known from one end of the world to the other, it was George M. Mardikian who made the great Persian Poet, Philosopher and Astronomer, Omar Khayyam's name synonymous with good food and good living. Many kings, presidents and world's greats such as athletes, writers, diplomats, journalists, stars of the stage, screen, radio and television, have made their habit of dining at Omar Khayyam's.

The location of Omar Khayyam's is exactly one block away from Union Square, on O'Farrell at Powell Streets. It is considered one of the most beautiful dining rooms in San Francisco with Philippine mahogany walls, original paintings by great artists depicting scenes from the Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. So don't fail to have a dinner there where you will find every imaginable type of food to please your palate, from charcoal broiled juicy steaks to Shish Kebab and Pilaff, roast chickens, ducks, turkey, ham, to the most unusual lamb dishes.

Cocktails and California Wines will add to your Evening's Dining Pleasure.
